Says Kenny Sent Notes to Gambler

Racketeer Insists He Paid $250 for Job on Piers

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A former political friend of Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City, N. J., told the New York State Crime Commission today that in 1946 he carried two envelopes from Kenny to Charles Yanowski, murdered racketeer and gambler.

The witness, Riordan Roett, told the commissioners he was associated with Kenny in Jersey City's Second Ward and also got a checker's job on the Jersey piers with Kenny's help. But even with his help, Roett added, he had to pay $250 to union officials in order to get the job.

The commission is investigating widespread racketeering along the waterfront of the world's biggest port.

Surmised Phone Call

The first time he delivered an envelope from Kenny to Yanowski at his home in West New York, N. J., Roett said, Yanowski greeted him by name "although he never had been introduced to me. I surmised that Kenny had phoned him I was coming."

Roett did not indicate whether he knew what the envelopes contained.

A previous witness told the commission today that Yanowski had said he was going to muscle in on Willie Moretti's gambling racket two days before Yanowski was slain in July, 1948. Moretti was shot to death in a Cliffside Park, N. J., restaurant in October, 1951. His slayer has not been caught.

Tells of Case Transfer

Roett, who said he was an attorney not practicing now, testified that he had once done Kenny a favor by having transferred from the Hoboken Recorder's Court to the Hudson County Grand Jury a case involving theft from a ship cargo against John Pansini, a friend of Kenny's.

Kenny told him that if the case could be transferred it would be killed, Roett said. He added that he did not know what happened to the case.

Kenny "told me to conceal the fact" that he was interested in the Pansini case, Roett said.

When he got his checker's job on the piers, he said, an official of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association took him to the offices of Local 1261.

Heard Talk About Money

The man who took him there, Roett said, was Jack (Shagger) Crimmins, who took $250 from him in the car and then laid it on the table before two other officials in the local's office. Roett said the other officers were Jerry Callahan and Pete Lynch.

"The money lay on the table for a while," Roett said, "and there was some bantering by Callahan and Crimmins. Then I started for the door and Crimmins started with me but changed his mind and stayed."

As Roett closed the door he heard the three start talking about how to divide the money, he testified.

The earlier witness who talked with Yanowski two days before he was slain was Frank Williams, a former checker on Hoboken, N. J., piers.

Last Man Taken From Navy Ship

London, Dec. 16 (AP)—Headquarters of the Military Sea Transportation Service said the last man was rescued from the broken U. S. Navy ship Grommet Reefer this afternoon.

An MSTS spokesman said a helicopter plucked the final survivor to safety. He was Capt. Henry Saukant of Brooklyn, master of the stricken vessel.

Four helicopters from U. S. aircraft carriers Midway and Leyte completed the removal of the crew.

IBM Plans New Research Center in Po'keepsie Area

Building Will Add Huge Laboratory Space to Present Facilities of Company

Plans for a new research center to be built near Poughkeepsie were announced today by the International Business Machines Corp.

The project will be started in the spring and is scheduled for completion in 1954. It will add 179,000 square feet of laboratory space to the company's present facilities at Poughkeepsie. It will occupy part of the former Kenyon estate on Spackenkill road, about three miles east of the IBM plant, the Associated Press reports.

To Have Auditorium

An auditorium seating 150 for technical meetings, a hall of products, a lounge and a cafeteria will be included. The center will have its own boiler plant, sewage disposal system and refrigerating plant for air conditioning.

Voorhees, Walker, Foley and Smith, New York architects and engineers, have drawn the plans for the project and the Tunrer Construction Co., of New York has been awarded the building contract.

Slays Wife, Shoots Self

Fredonia, Dec. 16 (AP)—Chautauqua County Coroner Samuel R. Patti said today that Lawrence Smith, 65, of Round Lake, Saratoga county, killed his wife with a 30-30 rifle this morning, then took his own life with the same weapon. Patti said Smith and his wife, Helen, 57, were estranged. He said Mrs. Smith had been living with her daughter, Mrs. William Tompkins, for the past month. Mrs. Smith was hit in the back by a blast from the gun, Patti said. Smith then apparently reloaded the gun, placed the end of the barrel in his mouth and pulled the trigger again, according to Patti.

Sabre Jet Pilots Destroy Four MIGs

Two of Downed Planes Are Credited to U. S. Aces

Seoul, Dec. 16 (AP)—Allied Sabre jet pilots destroyed at least four Communist MIG-15 jets in a series of high altitude dogfights over North Korea today, the Fifth Air Force announced.

Allied pilots also were credited with damaging one MIG and probably destroying another. The air force said it was investigating a claim that still another MIG was destroyed.

Allied losses, if any, are announced weekly.

The air force said a total of 27 Sabres and about 32 MIGs engaged in 13 separate dogfights. The battles raged from 45,000 feet down to 800 feet.

Two of the MIGs downed were credited to pilots who already had destroyed five to become aces. They are Col. Royal N. Baker, 701 Cedar street, McKinney, Tex., who was credited with half a MIG today, and Capt. Leonard W. Lilley, Manchester, N. H.

Ground action subsided to routine patrol fights except in the Kimhwa ridges area of the central front, where Chinese soldiers continued harassing attacks.

The Reds hit Pinpoint Hill and Rocky Point five times last night in short but intense attacks. They were driven back each time.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The position of the treasury on Dec. 12: Net budget receipts $131,250,645.40; budget expenditures $228,822,153.41; cash balance $5,575,604,771.42; customs receipts for month $25,686,400.26; budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $22,641,143,416; budget expenditures fiscal year $31,988,879,802.49; budget deficit $9,347,736,386.02; total debt $267,218,034,647.21; increase over previous day $5,301,001.38. Gold assets $23,336,023,486.03.

Fire Threatens Village

Greig, Dec. 16 (AP)—A $100,000 fire destroyed the largest building in this Lewis county village early today and for a time threatened to sweep the community. But volunteer firemen from nearby communities confined the flames to the one building. The two-story structure housed the post office, a general store and a large warehouse. The cause was not determined.

Ellenville Man, 26, Dies of Injuries

Was Injured in Accident Sunday; Coroner Gives Verdict

William E. Langabeer, 26, of Ellenville died 6 p. m. Monday at Veterans Memorial Hospital of injuries sustained in an automobile crash early Sunday morning.

Coroner Arthur C. Chipp said death was due to a fractured skull and brain concussion. A verdict of accidental death has been issued.

State police of the Ellenville station reported Langabeer was injured when the automobile he was driving crashed into a rock cut on Route 52 about a mile east of Ellenville about 1 a. m. Sunday. Troopers said the cause of the accident could not be determined because Langabeer was riding alone and there were no witnesses to the crash.

Employed as Firefighter

Langabeer was employed as a firefighter on a crash crew at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh. He was a veteran of World War 2. He resided at 140 Center street, Ellenville, and was foreman of the Pioneer Engine Company of that village.

He was born March 12, 1926, son of W. Roy and Mabel Ketell Langabeer of Ellenville, who survive him. Also surviving are his wife, the former Evelyn Spence; a daughter, Johanna, and three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Sehrig of Cragsmoor, Mrs. Frances Lepke of Ulster Heights and Mrs. Dorothy Pavuk of Cragsmoor.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ellenville, Thursday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. George R. Hiatt officiating. Burial will be in Fantinekill Cemetery. The Pioneer Engine Company will conduct services at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Pulling Funeral Home.

Japanese Police Say Radio Operator Admits Espionage

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—National rural police today said they had arrested a Japanese radio operator who told a weird tale of double-dealing espionage: He said he had made millions of yen spying for the U. S. in the guise of a spy for Russia.

A Foreign Office spokesman said police are investigating reports of an international spy ring. But he added that unless American secrets are involved, nothing can be done to the spies. Japan has no law against espionage.

Police said the radio operator, Masao Mitsuhashi, told the following story:

He was repatriated from the Soviet Union in 1947 and was questioned by allied counter-intelligence men. He admitted that Moscow had given him the mission of transmitting information on occupation matters to the Soviet Union by radio.

He was subsequently released under American surveillance and later offered to become a member of the American Counter-Intelligence Corps.

Unaware of the switch, Soviet agents in Japan used Mitsuhashi to send coded messages to the Soviet Union and North Korea about three times a month. Each time, Mitsuhashi said, he showed the message to American authorities and received money as reward. At the same time he was

Eisenhower Has Session With New Zealand Chief

Pacific Defenses Are to Come Before General and Holland

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Questions relating to the Pacific Defense Alliance, in which the United States is a partner, come before President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower today when he meets with the prime minister of New Zealand, Sidney Holland.

Holland has been in London for a conference on the alliance with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

It is composed now of three nations, the United States, Australia and New Zealand. However, observers saw indications—in a communique issued by the British Foreign Office yesterday—that Britain may be included in the arrangement. It has been called "the NATO of the Pacific."

On Appointment List

The New Zealand prime minister is on Eisenhower's appointment list for this afternoon. Leslie K. Munro, New Zealand ambassador to this country, is scheduled to accompany him. When the appointment was announced, newsmen asked James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, whether the defense alliance would be discussed.

"That's one of the things they are going to talk about," Hagerty replied.

Meanwhile, there still was no indication when Eisenhower will meet with Gen. Douglas MacArthur. They agreed, in an exchange of messages last week, to discuss MacArthur's views on bringing the Korean war to a close.

Hagerty said, however, they have not yet been in communication here. He said he did not believe members of their respective staffs had met, either.

Visits Headquarters

Martin P. Durkin, secretary of labor-designate, visited Eisenhower's headquarters today and conferred briefly with Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, who will be Eisenhower's executive assistant.

Durkin told newsmen he had no appointment with Eisenhower and did not see him. He said he had been in New York on union affairs and had stopped by the headquarters just to say "hello" to Adams.

One of Eisenhower's first visitors today was H. Christian Sonne, chairman of the National Planning Association, who told newsmen afterward he found the general "very interested and very well informed on the subject and importance of economic stability and growth."

Constantly Working

"That is a subject with which the National Planning Association is well acquainted and on which it is constantly working," Sonne said. "It was on this subject that I had a satisfactory discussion with the general."

Sonne told questioners there had been no discussion of details, such as taxes or wage-price controls.

"The whole pattern of having economic stability and growth and what I term economic preparedness were discussed," Sonne said.

Second Man Arrested

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Police arrested a second man today less than 12 hours after the $60,700 robbery of an auditor for the American Express Company. All but $5,700 in cash was recovered. Police hunted a third man.

Central May Close Two Stations; Must Keep Milton Open

Malden, Mount Pleasant Business Not Enough Is Decision of State PSC

The Public Service Commission has acted on applications from the New York Central Railroad affecting service at three Ulster county points, Milton, Malden-on-Hudson and Mount Pleasant.

Permission has been refused to close the station at Milton, according to an announcement from the commission in Albany, but the railroad may retire its buildings at the other two stations.

The commission ruled that at Milton the railroad may discontinue the services of its agent, replacing him with a caretaker who shall be on duty three hours daily, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays excepted, to handle express and less-than-carload inbound freight. The station is also to be kept open for the convenience of passengers.

The commission further ruled that the railroad shall continue to handle carload freight shipments to and from Milton at team tracks there but under the jurisdiction of its agent at Marlborough.

Figures Quoted

The company contended, at a public hearing on the matter, that business at Milton no longer justifies continued operation of the station. Annual revenues there from less-than-carload freight shipments, it was testified, average $1,650 annually and passenger revenues approximate $160 a year. Express business totals about $4,000 annually, it was said. Station operating expenses were put at $4,800 annually.

In a report to the commission, Examiner F. Leonard Titus states that carload shipments to Milton during the three years ending in 1951 ranged from 60 to 75 annually, while outbound carload shipments ranged from five to 24 a year. He also reported that revenues from less-than-carload freight and express have remained fairly constant during the past three and one-half years.

Objections to the company's proposal to close the station were raised by local residents who claimed a continuing need for the station for the handling of less-than-carload freight and express.

Malden Doesn't Pay

The commission authorized the railroad to discontinue all services other than the handling of carload freight at Malden-on-Hudson, and to remove its agent and retire its station there.

In a report to the commission, Examiner F. Leonard Titus states that company officials testified at a public hearing on the matter that annual operating expenses of the station approximate $4,200 and that less-than-carload freight

Soldiers Relate Red Fanaticism

Offensive Seen Ahead In Far East

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower's conclusion that the Communists can be impressed "only by deeds" was intepreted here by some allied military sources in Japan and Korea to mean the United Nations will be taking the offensive in Korea.

Before his visit to Korea, military leaders planned to inform Eisenhower that the only hope for an end to the Korean conflict was a military one.

Eisenhower's statement on arriving in New York seemed to bear out the belief that as commander-in-chief of United States armed forces he would order an end to the year-old stalemate.

"We face an enemy we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

Anything Viewed as Waste

In those 24 words, Eisenhower not only seemed to say he would take the wraps off Gen. Mark Clark's Far East command, but also that the armistice talks could result in nothing more than wasted words.

One year ago last month, when a cease-fire line was agreed upon at Panmunjom, quiet settled over the cold Korean front. In the past 13 months that quiet has erupted frequently in savage, if not small-scale fighting.

The battle line has changed very little and neither side has elected to attack in an effort to force a breakthrough. While Clark and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, his Korea commander, have been under orders only to hold, the Communists have made the most of the opportunity to build up in depth.

It is doubtful now if Clark has enough troops to smash through the 700,000 Communist soldiers facing him.

Must Have Way

Therefore Eisenhower must have a way in mind to build up the Eighth Army to a real striking force.

Clark has these forces available: 10 American divisions, including two in Japan, the British Commonwealth division, 14 Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions, and smaller units from Greece, Thailand, France, Ethiopia, Turkey, Colombia, the Netherlands, the Philippines and Belgium. He also has two air forces and the U. S. Seventh Fleet, including planes and warships from a number of the United Nations.

If that force were bolstered by three or four divisions from Nationalist China and perhaps many additional thousands more South Korea troops still in training, Clark conceivably could take the offensive.

Where would he strike?

It is not revealing classified information to say that the Communists are suckers for a body punch.

The First Marine Division landin at Inchon caught them flat footed.

Thousands Broke, Fled

That amphibious assault coincided with an allied breakout from the perilous Pusan perimeter, far to the southwest. Thousands of North Korean Reds, trapped between the two allied forces, broke and fled.

The U. S. Eighth Army went all-out in pursuit and chased the

Miller Says Action Was Deliberate

Officer Relates How Men Locked Arm-in-Arm Brought Punishment on Themselves

Was Given Tips

Prisoners' Notes Gave Americans News of Planned Break

Pongam Island, South Korea, Dec. 16 (AP)—American soldiers today told in vivid detail how U. S. and South Korean guards shot to death 84 Communist prisoners in quelling an attempted mass breakout Sunday by 4,500 fanatical Reds. The Communists were all civilian internees—former prisoners of war reclassified by the army.

A grim force of 300 guards conquered the mutinous thousands in 55 frenzied minutes with machine guns, rifles, carbines and bayonets.

Two Americans and three South Koreans as well as 118 prisoners were injured.

Volleys Are Ignored

The captives, locked arm-in-arm and fanatically roaring the choruses of Communist songs, ignored volley after volley of close-range fire. They lifted their dead and wounded as they fell.

After the battle, the guards had to loosen the locked arms of many of the prisoners before they could drag them from the stockade.

The once-defiant Reds were cowed completely at 1:25 p. m. Sunday.

Newsmen today toured the island and entered the compound were most of the captives died.

Guards made the prisoners, many of them limping and wearing bandages, file into another stockade before the correspondents entered.

Lt. Col. George P. Millen, Columbus, Ohio, boss of the island's 9,200 North Korean captives, said he regretted the deaths but added sternly:

Says Strength Tested

"They brought it on themselves. They tested our strength and lost."

He said the tension which was mounting on the island before Sunday's outbreak was vanquished.

Pongam is a dumbell-shaped island near Koje Island, scene of the first POW riots last February. Both islands are off the southeast coast of Korea.

Miller said "Had I not taken the action, I would have had one-half the prisoners loose on the island and we would have lost many more lives. The barbed wire cannot hold determined prisoners."

Miller said he was tipped on the planned outbreak, largely by two notes scribbled by prisoners.

The first, addressed to Miller and left near a gate where it was found by a guard, warned of an intended breakout Dec. 7. That one never came off.

No Leaders Named

The second note, seized from a prisoner as he tried to destroy it, said the first plan went awry but that the breakout would be attempted later. Miller said it outlined the mass escape plan, but did not name any of the ringleaders.

One of the wounded guards was hit on the right hand by a rock while trying to break up the mutiny. A corporal bruised his left hand when he was pushed down by a prisoner in the struggle.

Prisoners in compound "Fox" burst out with Communist songs. That was the starting signal for the outbreak. Five neighboring stockades quickly joined in the chorus.

Miller rushed to the scene, shouted "stop." But the Reds kept singing.

They locked arms and jammed three-deep in front of their barracks, set on a rocky terrace cut into the steep hillside.

Surrounds Stockade

Miller ordered one platoon—about 40 men—of the U. S. 9th

Vandals Do Costly Damage; Six Students Admit Part

Detective Clarence Brophy, who has been investigating vandalism in the skating rink building near the MJM School, said today he had traced some of the mischief to six local school pupils.

The probe started, Brophy said, when it was found that, all window sashes in the structure, had been damaged, four doors broken, an electric stove pulled apart, and a toilet bowl broken in the boys' section.

Both grade and high school pupils have been using the skating rink area for ball games and other recreation, and one act of vandalism apparently followed another after a door was broken some time ago.

The detective said he had interviewed 28 pupils, and found among them the six, who admitted doing some of the damage. About ten more are to be interviewed, as the investigation continues.

Authorities were still in the process of estimating the extent of damage today, but early inspection indicated it will amount to several hundred dollars.

The building is the property of the recreation department which is under control of the BPW.

Brophy said the first door was broken with a baseball bat and partly kicked in by someone who wanted to get in for a drink of water. The other acts of vandalism followed that first break.

Fire Threatens Village

Greig, Dec. 16 (AP)—A $100,000 fire destroyed the largest building in this Lewis county village early today and for a time threatened to sweep the community. But volunteer firemen from nearby communities confined the flames to the one building. The two-story structure housed the post office, a general store and a large warehouse. The cause was not determined.

Pacific Defenses Are to Come Before General and Holland

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Questions relating to the Pacific Defense Alliance, in which the United States is a partner, come before President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower today when he meets with the prime minister of New Zealand, Sidney Holland.

Holland has been in London for a conference on the alliance with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

It is composed now of three nations, the United States, Australia and New Zealand. However, observers saw indications—in a communique issued by the British Foreign Office yesterday—that Britain may be included in the arrangement. It has been called "the NATO of the Pacific."

On Appointment List

The New Zealand prime minister is on Eisenhower's appointment list for this afternoon. Leslie K. Munro, New Zealand ambassador to this country, is scheduled to accompany him. When the appointment was announced, newsmen asked James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, whether the defense alliance would be discussed.

"That's one of the things they are going to talk about," Hagerty replied.

Meanwhile, there still was no indication when Eisenhower will meet with Gen. Douglas MacArthur. They agreed, in an exchange of messages last week, to discuss MacArthur's views on bringing the Korean war to a close.

Hagerty said, however, they have not yet been in communication here. He said he did not believe members of their respective staffs had met, either.

Visits Headquarters

Martin P. Durkin, secretary of labor-designate, visited Eisenhower's headquarters today and conferred briefly with Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, who will be Eisenhower's executive assistant.

Durkin told newsmen he had no appointment with Eisenhower and did not see him. He said he had been in New York on union affairs and had stopped by the headquarters just to say "hello" to Adams.

One of Eisenhower's first visitors today was H. Christian Sonne, chairman of the National Planning Association, who told newsmen afterward he found the general "very interested and very well informed on the subject and importance of economic stability and growth."

Constantly Working

"That is a subject with which the National Planning Association is well acquainted and on which it is constantly working," Sonne said. "It was on this subject that I had a satisfactory discussion with the general."

Sonne told questioners there had been no discussion of details, such as taxes or wage-price controls.

"The whole pattern of having economic stability and growth and what I term economic preparedness were discussed," Sonne said.

Second Man Arrested

Schenectady, N. Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Police arrested a second man today less than 12 hours after the $60,700 robbery of an auditor for the American Express Company. All but $5,700 in cash was recovered. Police hunted a third man.

Central May Close Two Stations; Must Keep Milton Open

Malden, Mount Pleasant Business Not Enough Is Decision of State PSC

The Public Service Commission has acted on applications from the New York Central Railroad affecting service at three Ulster county points, Milton, Malden-on-Hudson and Mount Pleasant.

Permission has been refused to close the station at Milton, according to an announcement from the commission in Albany, but the railroad may retire its buildings at the other two stations.

The commission ruled that at Milton the railroad may discontinue the services of its agent, replacing him with a caretaker who shall be on duty three hours daily, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays excepted, to handle express and less-than-carload inbound freight. The station is also to be kept open for the convenience of passengers.

The commission further ruled that the railroad shall continue to handle carload freight shipments to and from Milton at team tracks there but under the jurisdiction of its agent at Marlborough.

Figures Quoted

The company contended, at a public hearing on the matter, that business at Milton no longer justifies continued operation of the station. Annual revenues there from less-than-carload freight shipments, it was testified, average $1,650 annually and passenger revenues approximate $160 a year. Express business totals about $4,000 annually, it was said. Station operating expenses were put at $4,800 annually.

In a report to the commission, Examiner F. Leonard Titus states that carload shipments to Milton during the three years ending in 1951 ranged from 60 to 75 annually, while outbound carload shipments ranged from five to 24 a year. He also reported that revenues from less-than-carload freight and express have remained fairly constant during the past three and one-half years.

Objections to the company's proposal to close the station were raised by local residents who claimed a continuing need for the station for the handling of less-than-carload freight and express.

Malden Doesn't Pay

The commission authorized the railroad to discontinue all services other than the handling of carload freight at Malden-on-Hudson, and to remove its agent and retire its station there.

In a report to the commission, Examiner F. Leonard Titus states that company officials testified at a public hearing on the matter that annual operating expenses of the station approximate $4,200 and that less-than-carload freight

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—National rural police today said they had arrested a Japanese radio operator who told a weird tale of double-dealing espionage: He said he had made millions of yen spying for the U. S. in the guise of a spy for Russia.

A Foreign Office spokesman said police are investigating reports of an international spy ring. But he added that unless American secrets are involved, nothing can be done to the spies. Japan has no law against espionage.

Police said the radio operator, Masao Mitsuhashi, told the following story:

He was repatriated from the Soviet Union in 1947 and was questioned by allied counter-intelligence men. He admitted that Moscow had given him the mission of transmitting information on occupation matters to the Soviet Union by radio.

He was subsequently released under American surveillance and later offered to become a member of the American Counter-Intelligence Corps.

Unaware of the switch, Soviet agents in Japan used Mitsuhashi to send coded messages to the Soviet Union and North Korea about three times a month. Each time, Mitsuhashi said, he showed the message to American authorities and received money as reward. At the same time he was

Offensive Seen Ahead In Far East

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower's conclusion that the Communists can be impressed "only by deeds" was intepreted here by some allied military sources in Japan and Korea to mean the United Nations will be taking the offensive in Korea.

Before his visit to Korea, military leaders planned to inform Eisenhower that the only hope for an end to the Korean conflict was a military one.

Eisenhower's statement on arriving in New York seemed to bear out the belief that as commander-in-chief of United States armed forces he would order an end to the year-old stalemate.

"We face an enemy we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

Anything Viewed as Waste

In those 24 words, Eisenhower not only seemed to say he would take the wraps off Gen. Mark Clark's Far East command, but also that the armistice talks could result in nothing more than wasted words.

One year ago last month, when a cease-fire line was agreed upon at Panmunjom, quiet settled over the cold Korean front. In the past 13 months that quiet has erupted frequently in savage, if not small-scale fighting.

The battle line has changed very little and neither side has elected to attack in an effort to force a breakthrough. While Clark and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, his Korea commander, have been under orders only to hold, the Communists have made the most of the opportunity to build up in depth.

It is doubtful now if Clark has enough troops to smash through the 700,000 Communist soldiers facing him.

Must Have Way

Therefore Eisenhower must have a way in mind to build up the Eighth Army to a real striking force.

Clark has these forces available: 10 American divisions, including two in Japan, the British Commonwealth division, 14 Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions, and smaller units from Greece, Thailand, France, Ethiopia, Turkey, Colombia, the Netherlands, the Philippines and Belgium. He also has two air forces and the U. S. Seventh Fleet, including planes and warships from a number of the United Nations.

If that force were bolstered by three or four divisions from Nationalist China and perhaps many additional thousands more South Korea troops still in training, Clark conceivably could take the offensive.

Where would he strike?

It is not revealing classified information to say that the Communists are suckers for a body punch.

The First Marine Division landin at Inchon caught them flat footed.

Thousands Broke, Fled

That amphibious assault coincided with an allied breakout from the perilous Pusan perimeter, far to the southwest. Thousands of North Korean Reds, trapped between the two allied forces, broke and fled.

The U. S. Eighth Army went all-out in pursuit and chased the

State Department Suspends Tangier Minister—Acheson Might Reopen Case

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP) — The government's top loyalty review board has ruled there is reasonable doubt as to the loyalty of Career Diplomat John Carter Vincent, but the State Department kept the way open today to accept or reject its recommendation he be fired.

Some officials speculated that, after discussing the matter with President Truman, probably next weekend, Secretary of State Acheson may decide to reopen the whole case and may eventually reinstate Vincent. Acheson is in

Miller Says Action Was Deliberate

Officer Relates How Men Locked Arm-in-Arm Brought Punishment on Themselves

Was Given Tips

Prisoners' Notes Gave Americans News of Planned Break

Pongam Island, South Korea, Dec. 16 (AP)—American soldiers today told in vivid detail how U. S. and South Korean guards shot to death 84 Communist prisoners in quelling an attempted mass breakout Sunday by 4,500 fanatical Reds. The Communists were all civilian internees—former prisoners of war reclassified by the army.

A grim force of 300 guards conquered the mutinous thousands in 55 frenzied minutes with machine guns, rifles, carbines and bayonets.

Two Americans and three South Koreans as well as 118 prisoners were injured.

Volleys Are Ignored

The captives, locked arm-in-arm and fanatically roaring the choruses of Communist songs, ignored volley after volley of close-range fire. They lifted their dead and wounded as they fell.

After the battle, the guards had to loosen the locked arms of many of the prisoners before they could drag them from the stockade.

The once-defiant Reds were cowed completely at 1:25 p. m. Sunday.

Newsmen today toured the island and entered the compound were most of the captives died.

Guards made the prisoners, many of them limping and wearing bandages, file into another stockade before the correspondents entered.

Lt. Col. George P. Miller, Columbus, Ohio, boss of the island's 9,200 North Korean captives, said he regretted the deaths but added sternly:

Says Strength Tested

"They brought it on themselves. They tested our strength and lost."

He said the tension which was mounting on the island before Sunday's outbreak was vanquished.

Pongam is a dumbell-shaped island near Koje Island, scene of the first POW riots last February. Both islands are off the southeast coast of Korea.

Miller said "Had I not taken the action, I would have had one-half the prisoners loose on the island and we would have lost many more lives. The barbed wire cannot hold determined prisoners."

Miller said he was tipped on the planned outbreak, largely by two notes scribbled by prisoners.

The first, addressed to Miller and left near a gate where it was found by a guard, warned of an intended breakout Dec. 7. That one never came off.

No Leaders Named

The second note, seized from a prisoner as he tried to destroy it, said the first plan went awry but that the breakout would be attempted later. Miller said it outlined the mass escape plan, but did not name any of the ringleaders.

One of the wounded guards was hit on the right hand by a rock while trying to break up the mutiny. A corporal bruised his left hand when he was pushed down by a prisoner in the struggle.

Prisoners in compound "Fox" burst out with Communist songs. That was the starting signal for the outbreak. Five neighboring stockades quickly joined in the chorus.

Miller rushed to the scene, shouted "stop." But the Reds kept singing.

They locked arms and jammed three-deep in front of their barracks, set on a rocky terrace cut into the steep hillside.

Surrounds Stockade

Miller ordered one platoon—about 40 men—of the U. S. 9th

Vandals Do Costly Damage; Six Students Admit Part

Detective Clarence Brophy, who has been investigating vandalism in the skating rink building near the MJM School, said today he had traced some of the mischief to six local school pupils.

The probe started, Brophy said, when it was found that, all window sashes in the structure, had been damaged, four doors broken, an electric stove pulled apart, and a toilet bowl broken in the boys' section.

Both grade and high school pupils have been using the skating rink area for ball games and other recreation, and one act of vandalism apparently followed another after a door was broken some time ago.

The detective said he had interviewed 28 pupils, and found among them the six, who admitted doing some of the damage. About ten more are to be interviewed, as the investigation continues.

Authorities were still in the process of estimating the extent of damage today, but early inspection indicated it will amount to several hundred dollars.

The building is the property of the recreation department which is under control of the BPW.

Brophy said the first door was broken with a baseball bat and partly kicked in by someone who wanted to get in for a drink of water. The other acts of vandalism followed that first break.

The Weather Bureau said the operator of a hydroponics station near suburban Tropical Park reported a 31 degree reading and said ice formed on the surface of the water for a short time. The official 41 also made this the coldest day of 1952. The previous low was registered last Saturday when the mercury dipped to 47. WALLKILL

Wallkill, Dec. 16—Fire of unknown origin caused considerable damage to the home of Mrs. Edna Roach, Lavoletta street, Wallkill, Monday at 10:30 a. m., it has been reported. The house was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Smoke and flames were detected by a workman on the roof of a neighboring house. Believed to have been smouldering for some time before it was noticed the fire was confined to the living room though the entire home was damaged by smoke and water.

Wallkill firemen responded immediately headed by Chief Joseph F. Doolittle.

On Wednesday evening an estimated 1200 adults and children turned out on the village square to usher in the Christmas season and Santa Claus.

Arriving on the fire truck Santa was busy as he and his helpers handed out 375 bags of candy, apples and oranges and listened to the enthusiastic small fry who presented their wishful lists for Christmas Eve delivery. The program was sponsored by the recreation committee of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce, one of the highlight programs of the Chamber's year.

President of the Chamber Daniel Van Alst addressed the gathering and explained the Christmas lighting contest. Miss Margaret DuBois opened the program with a trumpet solo, Silent Night, Holy Night. Also featured was a community sing conducted by Hubert Hendrie, accompanied by Mrs. George W. Parliman on the novachard. Lovely Christmas carol music was heard throughout the village over the new loud speaker installed for the occasion by George Parliman, local electrician. Incidentally, Parliman's mother, Mrs. Louisa Parliman, one of the village's most civic minded women, wrapped and packed the entire 375 Christmas packages handed to the children.

Traffic congestion was kept under control by the Wallkill Fire Department under the direction of Adam Ulrich.

The exercises were held on the lawn and porch of the Harold H. Titus Insurance Company, E. Lester Mach furnished trucking service.

The committee that arranged the affair included Lester E. Terwilliger, chairman; Fred C. Terwilliger, Edward C. Masten, Macey E. Van Wagenen, George W. Parliman and Jesse M. McHugh.

Thirty-two persons participated in the annual meeting of the Wallkill Fire District in the fire house here Tuesday evening.

The proposition for authorization to expend $400 in excess of the sum authorized in accordance with Town Law was sanctioned. Twenty-five affirmative votes were cast, one negative and six blank.

Balloting was conducted for two commissioners, one for the expired five-year term of incumbent, Frank Mentz, chairman of the board, and one for one-year term to fill the unexpired term occasioned by the death of Charles O. Smith.

The meeting nominated Mentz to succeed himself and Addison D. Crowell to replace Smith. Results of the votes cast, according to the count by tellers Harold H. Titus and Joseph Doolittle was Mentz 28, Adam Ulrich 4, Crowell 28, George Hammesfahr 4.

Herbert McHugh was chosen chairman of the meeting. E. T. Selly acted as secretary.

The regular meeting and Christmas party of the Wallkill Home Bureau will be held Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 10 a. m. in the Community room of the Wallkill National Bank. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish. Rolls, beverage and dessert will be furnished. Members should also bring a 25-cent gift for exchange.

Mrs. Kelso S. Sloan and Mrs. E. Lester Mack will give lessons on Christmas decorations. Those planning to work on the project should bring a sharp knife, snips to cut wire, green twine, or cord and floral foam.

The group will work on candy cane centerpieces, lamp chimneys, apple candle holders and glitter trees. For further information call Mrs. Sloan at Wallkill after 6 p. m.

At the regular December meeting of the Wallkill Woman's Club held Friday, Dec. 12, at the Community Room of the Wallkill National Bank, Mrs. Walter Harris, program chairman, presented a program of music. A piano duet was played by Mrs. C. E. Penney and Mrs. Jack Kessler. Mrs. L. C. Edsall read the Christmas story, Mistletoe, after which the members enjoyed a song fest of Christmas carols. The program was closed with a piano solo, Evening Chimes, by Mrs. Walter Harris.

At the business meeting the club voted a contribution of $5 for the Christmas lighting fund. Gifts were collected for children in foster homes for Christmas.

Mrs. C. E. Penney, club president, also called attention to the fact that the next meeting January 9 would be dedicated to Scouting. The local Girl Scout troops will present the program.

Mrs. Eugene Link, former teacher at the University of Denver, was guest speaker at a regular meeting of the Wallkill Parent's Club Thursday evening, Dec. 4, in the Central School auditorium.

Mrs. Link spoke on the topic, Family Life, stressing the important effect of a family on the education of a child. She said there was a vital need of understanding and cooperation between family and teachers for the best results in the education of children. She presented a description of family life in various countries abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Southwell of Wallkill are the parents of a daughter Paula Jean born December 2 at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Dairy Farms U. S. Asset

"With a yearly output valued at around 8 billion dollars the U. S. dairy industry is one of the country's most important economic assets," according to Harold M. Stanley, assistant secretary-treasurer of the American Dairy Association.

"The dairy industry has a tremendous influence upon the U. S. economy. Milk has been traditionally the largest single source of farm cash income and the most widely used food, comprising 20 per cent or more of all the food consumed yearly by American consumers. The U. S. today is the leading dairy nation.

"The dairy industry is one of wide ramifications based on a system of production, collection, transportation and distribution which improves the health and economic welfare of every community.

"It is estimated that 10 million people are dependent upon the dairy industry, for their livelihood, including those in allied industries and their families. There are an estimated 250,000 workers employed in processing and delivering dairy products alone.

"The dairy industry also affects indirectly many other industries. With some 190,000 trucks used daily in delivering milk and its products from farms to plants and from plants to consumers, dairying requires more motor vehicles than any other commodity.

"To process milk which is a highly perishable product, the plants use extensive mechanical equipment with installations of receiving, pasteurizing, bottling, refrigerating and other machinery. In addition specialized machinery must be used in making butter, cheese, ice cream and the many products in which milk is used. On the farms milking and other machines are being increasingly used to combat labor shortages and save man hours.

"Dairying is basically a cash industry which means that milk is the life-line of commerce in thousands of communities. The dairy farmer is paid for his milk monthly or more frequently. It is milk money that keeps the cash registers going in retail stores and money from milk keeps the school busses running.

"Too few people are familiar with the tremendous economic importance of the dairy industry and the solid foundation it supplies to our free nation with a product of which the U. S. Public Health Service says 'of all the foods none is more important than milk.'"

NEW HOPE FOR NEAR-BLIND—Clear-image lenses, developed by New York optometrist Dr. William Feinbloom, standing, enable this young patient to once more read a newspaper. The thick, specially ground "clear-image" lenses are said to open new vistas of vision to people with only a fraction of normal sight. Dr. Feinbloom estimates that the lenses could benefit at least 150,000 limited-vision persons in the United States alone.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—In the midst of a lot of trader caution, the stock market today managed to make slight progress.

Gains ran from the small fractions to a bit past a point while losses were practically all fractional.

Volume held up rather well at a rate of around two million shares for the full day. Yesterday's total came to 1,940,000 shares.

Alleghany Corp., which owns the largest single block of Missouri Pacific Common, and the Mopac Preferred were the outstanding feature of the market. The once bankrupt railroad now is earning money.

Alleghany Common was heavily traded in large blocks after it opened on a block of 40,000 shares up ⅛ at 5. Trading in the common accounted for more than 10 per cent of total business. Promise Action on Pay

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP) — The Wage Stabilization Committee, organized to keep the wage controls program going, has promised fast action on 12,000 pay increases awaiting approval. "We will make every effort to get the maximum number of cases out before Christmas," Chairman Charles C. Killingsworth said. Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam formed the committee yesterday after abandoning attempts to revitalize the Wage Stabilization Board. All seven industry members of the three-cornered board — the other members represented the unions and the public — quit in protest against President Truman's approval of the coal miners' full wage boost. Boycotted by industry in the board could not function, so Putnam set up the committee composed solely of the Board's public members.

Simple Settings for Holiday Dinners

New Look in Table Decor Is Devoid of Fuss

Christmas buffet (left) has simplicity as its keynote, uses a miniature tree as sole decoration. Silver rope radiates from the base of the tree; china is white banded with silver. Informal holiday dinner table (right) has traditional Christmas china, center piece of mirrored Dutch shoes filled with greens and arranged with fat white candle. Silver pattern for buffet is modern; for dinner table, traditional. Either setting is easy to do.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, Dec. 16—Fire of unknown origin caused considerable damage to the home of Mrs. Edna Roach, Lavoletta street, Wallkill, Monday at 10:30 a. m., it has been reported. The house was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Smoke and flames were detected by a workman on the roof of a neighboring house. Believed to have been smouldering for some time before it was noticed the fire was confined to the living room though the entire home was damaged by smoke and water.

Wallkill firemen responded immediately headed by Chief Joseph F. Doolittle.

On Wednesday evening an estimated 1200 adults and children turned out on the village square to usher in the Christmas season and Santa Claus.

Arriving on the fire truck Santa was busy as he and his helpers handed out 375 bags of candy, apples and oranges and listened to the enthusiastic small fry who presented their wishful lists for Christmas Eve delivery. The program was sponsored by the recreation committee of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce, one of the highlight programs of the Chamber's year.

President of the Chamber Daniel Van Alst addressed the gathering and explained the Christmas lighting contest. Miss Margaret DuBois opened the program with a trumpet solo, Silent Night, Holy Night. Also featured was a community sing conducted by Hubert Hendrie, accompanied by Mrs. George W. Parliman on the novachard. Lovely Christmas carol music was heard throughout the village over the new loud speaker installed for the occasion by George Parliman, local electrician. Incidentally, Parliman's mother, Mrs. Louisa Parliman, one of the village's most civic minded women, wrapped and packed the entire 375 Christmas packages handed to the children.

Traffic congestion was kept under control by the Wallkill Fire Department under the direction of Adam Ulrich.

The exercises were held on the lawn and porch of the Harold H. Titus Insurance Company. E. Lester Mach furnished trucking service.

The committee that arranged the affair included Lester E. Terwilliger, chairman; Fred C. Terwilliger, Edward C. Masten, Macey E. Van Wagenen, George W. Parliman and Jesse M. McHugh.

Thirty-two persons participated in the annual meeting of the Wallkill Fire District in the fire house here Tuesday evening.

The proposition for authorization to expend $400 in excess of the sum authorized in accordance with Town Law was sanctioned. Twenty-five affirmative votes were cast, one negative and six blank.

Balloting was conducted for two commissioners, one for the expired five-year term of incumbent, Frank Mentz, chairman of the board, and one for one-year term to fill the unexpired term occasioned by the death of Charles O. Smith.

The meeting nominated Mentz to succeed himself and Addison D. Crowell to replace Smith. Results of the votes cast, according to the count by tellers Harold H. Titus and Joseph Doolittle was Mentz 28, Adam Ulrich 4, Crowell 28, George Hammesfahr 4.

Herbert McHugh was chosen chairman of the meeting. E. T. Selly acted as secretary.

The regular meeting and Christmas party of the Wallkill Home Bureau will be held Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 10 a. m. in the Community room of the Wallkill National Bank. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish. Rolls, beverage and dessert will be furnished. Members should also bring a 25-cent gift for exchange.

Mrs. Kelso S. Sloan and Mrs. E. Lester Mack will give lessons on Christmas decorations. Those planning to work on the project should bring a sharp knife, snips to cut wire, green twine, or cord and floral foam.

The group will work on candy cane centerpieces, lamp chimneys, apple candle holders and glitter trees. For further information call Mrs. Sloan at Wallkill after 6 p. m.

At the regular December meeting of the Wallkill Woman's Club held Friday, Dec. 12, at the Community Room of the Wallkill National Bank, Mrs. Walter Harris, program chairman, presented a program of music. A piano duet was played by Mrs. C. E. Penney and Mrs. Jack Kessler. Mrs. L. C. Edsall read the Christmas story, Mistletoe, after which the members enjoyed a song fest of Christmas carols. The program was closed with a piano solo, Evening Chimes, by Mrs. Walter Harris.

At the business meeting the club voted a contribution of $5 for the Christmas lighting fund. Gifts were collected for children in foster homes for Christmas.

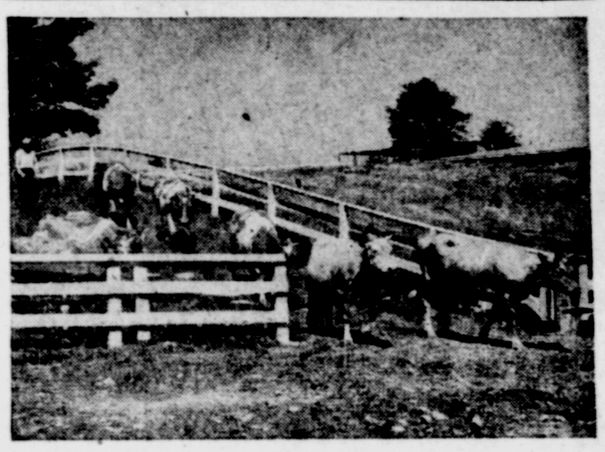
Mrs. C. E. Penney, club president, also called attention to the fact that the next meeting January 9 would be dedicated to Scouting. The local Girl Scout troops will present the program.

Mrs. Eugene Link, former teacher at the University of Denver, was guest speaker at a regular meeting of the Wallkill Parent's Club Thursday evening, Dec. 4, in the Central School auditorium.

Mrs. Link spoke on the topic, Family Life, stressing the important effect of a family on the education of a child. She said there was a vital need of understanding and cooperation between family and teachers for the best results in the education of children. She presented a description of family life in various countries abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Southwell of Wallkill are the parents of a daughter Paula Jean born December 2 at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Dairy Farms U. S. Asset



"With a yearly output valued at around 8 billion dollars the U. S. dairy industry is one of the country's most important economic assets," according to Harold M. Stanley, assistant secretary-treasurer of the American Dairy Association.

"The dairy industry has a tremendous influence upon the U. S. economy. Milk has been traditionally the largest single source of farm cash income and the most widely used food, comprising 20 per cent or more of all the food consumed yearly by American consumers. The U. S. today is the leading dairy nation.

"The dairy industry is one of wide ramifications based on a system of production, collection, transportation and distribution which improves the health and economic welfare of every community.

"It is estimated that 10 million people are dependent upon the dairy industry, for their livelihood, including those in allied industries and their families. There are an estimated 250,000 workers employed in processing and delivering dairy products alone.

"The dairy industry also affects indirectly many other industries. With some 190,000 trucks used daily in delivering milk and its products from farms to plants and from plants to consumers, dairying requires more motor vehicles than any other commodity.

"To process milk which is a highly perishable product, the plants use extensive mechanical equipment with installations of receiving, pasteurizing, bottling, refrigerating and other machinery. In addition specialized machinery must be used in making butter, cheese, ice cream and the many products in which milk is used. On the farms milking and other machines are being increasingly used to combat labor shortages and save man hours.

"Dairying is basically a cash industry which means that milk is the life-line of commerce in thousands of communities. The dairy farmer is paid for his milk monthly or more frequently. It is milk money that keeps the cash registers going in retail stores and money from milk keeps the school busses running.

"Too few people are familiar with the tremendous economic importance of the dairy industry and the solid foundation it supplies to our free nation with a product of which the U. S. Public Health Service says 'of all the foods none is more important than milk.'"

NEW HOPE FOR NEAR-BLIND—Clear-image lenses, developed by New York optometrist Dr. William Feinbloom, standing, enable this young patient to once more read a newspaper. The thick, specially ground "clear-image" lenses are said to open new vistas of vision to people with only a fraction of normal sight. Dr. Feinbloom estimates that the lenses could benefit at least 150,000 limited-vision persons in the United States alone.

Alleghany Corp., which owns the largest single block of Missouri Pacific Common, and the Mopac Preferred were the outstanding feature of the market. The once bankrupt railroad now is earning money.

Promise Action on Pay

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP) — The Wage Stabilization Committee, organized to keep the wage controls program going, has promised fast action on 12,000 pay increases awaiting approval. "We will make every effort to get the maximum number of cases out before Christmas," Chairman Charles C. Killingsworth said. Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam formed the committee yesterday after abandoning attempts to revitalize the Wage Stabilization Board. All seven industry members of the three-cornered board — the other members represented the unions and the public — quit in protest against President Truman's approval of the coal miners' full wage boost. Boycotted by industry in the board could not function, so Putnam set up the committee composed solely of the Board's public members.

Ulster CD Heads View Defense Test

A group of Ulster county Civil Defense officials observed the large scale A-bomb defense test in New York Saturday, Dec. 13.

Present in the secret Manhattan Control Center during the alert were Col. Allan L. Hanstein, county Civil Defense director; Sheriff Cluett Schantz; Roland Green, deputy director in charge of public works; Dr. Dudley Hargraves, county health commissioner; Sherwood Davis, Kingston city director; Arthur Chipp, county fire coordinator; H. Edgar Timmerman, transportation and communications officer; Philip Schantz, welfare; and R. Earl Haley, town of Wawarsing reception center.

Toured Bombed Area

The group saw the well trained control center staff swing into action with aid for the stricken area in the Bronx, as the yellow and red alert signals were received. Later, the party toured the area of the theoretical bomb drop and observed the fire equipment, rescue squads, police and wardens in operation.

Lt. Gen. C. R. Huebner, state CD director, expressed satisfaction to Col. Hanstein for the plan submitted for this test exercise by the Ulster county organization. The plan was in the form of solutions to problems which a supporting county would encounter in event of an actual attack upon the metropolis.

While no actual equipment was sent from this county, the equipment designated was ready and available and within a short time after the alert would have been moving to aid the stricken area.

Under the plans, Ulster county would expect to have to care for more than 25,000 homeless persons—mostly aged and children—evacuated from New York.

The contingent which observed the tests also participated in meetings concerned with the several sections for which the individuals were responsible.

Group Is Impressed

Upon their return here, members of the group revealed that they were impressed by the well-trained crews of Civil Defense workers in New York and by the "whole-hearted and splendid cooperation of the public." A more detailed report will be submitted at a meeting of key city, town and county personnel early in January.

Plans also are underway for a stepped-up program for the recruitment and training of many more CD workers in this county. Volunteers may enroll by contacting their city or town directors.

Traffic Lights

Editor, The Freeman

Traffic lights have been put up to diminish automobile accidents. In our City, however, the six traffic lights on Broadway between Central Post Office and Henry-O'Neil Street crossings seem to serve just the opposite purpose. They always change simultaneously thus inviting motorists to speed beyond the 25 MPH limit in order to reach the next green light.

I think a switch to "staggered light" with a speed of 25 MPH between the mentioned crossings would help to improve traffic and prevent accidents.

For better traffic conditions in our beloved City

Sincerely yours,
LEON S. GRAY, M.D.

Temple Emanuel

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 14, the Religious school of Temple Emanuel under the direction of Cantor Greenfield, put on a series of playlets for the Chanukah season. Each class in the school, from the tiniest tyke to the older group, entered into the festive spirit and ran the gamut from seriousness to satire. The social hall of Temple Emanuel was decorated by the Parent - Teacher Association of the Temple. Each child in the school received a gift and a candy filled Chanukah top (dredel). The ceremony of the lighting of the lights and the dusty tones of appropriate singing closed the festivities. Once more the children recalled the glories of the Jewish victory over the Syrian hosts and translated events as far back at 165 before the current era into contemporary meaning and parlance. The Festival of Lights gives strength in the building of a better world. The children's efforts were rewarded by a goodly crowd of enthusiastic parents and friends. After the entertainment a box supper was enjoyed with dessert and coffee furnished by the P-TA. Faith, facts, fun and food specialized the occasion.

Weddings account for nearly $100,000,000 in the florist trade annually, with an average expenditure of $85 per bride.

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. SOME OF THOSE TRAVELS may well start on one of New York Central's 28,000 new coal cars. For coal enters into most presents. It's a main ingredient of lovely stockings. It's the carbon that tempers steel. It's the fuel that generates electric power to manufacture gifts.

2. MILES AND MILES LATER, your gift reaches a store. On the way there, the raw materials . . . the semi-finished parts . . . the very paint or finish . . . all come together principally by rail. For great railroads like New York Central are the real assembly lines of America.

3. WHO BRINGS YOUR GIFTS? The postman? The expressman? Either way, most presents travel by train. In the December rush, Central will carry over 700,000,000 parcel post packages and pieces of Christmas mail. That's nearly one-eighth of the total for the whole U.S.!

IT'S TIME TO HURDLE A BARRIER

The barriers to mutual understanding between America and other peoples often seem hopelessly high. With today's remarkable communications and transportation, the flow of men and information around the globe is swifter and greater than ever in history. Yet misunderstanding abounds.

Why this should be so is a subject big enough for a book. We won't tackle it here, but look instead at just one narrow front.

Americans who work abroad for their government too often do not try genuinely to understand the people and the country where they are living. They tend rather to import a little piece of the United States with them, to surround themselves with the material comforts of home, to join in colonies of their fellow countrymen who comprise slightly larger transported Americas.

Some of this may be done in all innocence, by those who at the same time profess earnest wishes to learn of the foreign land they live in. But we cannot escape the fact that, whatever the intent, the effect upon our friends abroad is generally bad.

The material commonplaces of our everyday way of life are more often than not luxuries to foreigners. They resent our lavish habits. They resent our keeping to ourselves in isolated colonies. They see it as a reflection upon them as not worth knowing.

Perhaps some of this feeling is natural envy for our fortunate economic status. But it seems plain from the behavior of U. S. missions abroad that our workers do not make a really notable effort to understand foreigners in their own terms, to know them, appreciate their differences, learn to admire their good qualities.

Isn't it time we got a different outlook?

CHRISTMAS TREE PRECAUTIONS

Feeling that a little knowledge of Christmas tree hazards and how to prevent tragic fires will help keep Christmas the merry holiday it should be, B. Richter Townsend, chief of the fire bureau in the state division of safety offers these safety tips:

Select a small tree and keep it outside until a few days before Christmas.

Before setting the tree up inside, cut the trunk on a diagonal and use a pail of water for the base. This will help to keep the tree moist.

Set up tree in the coolest part of the house. Shut off nearby sources of heat if necessary.

Never use lighted candles.

Check electric wiring—don't overload circuits.

Keep bulbs from touching branches.

Don't allow children to play with electrical toys under tree.

Remove accumulation of gift wrappings from under tree.

Turn off tree lights before going to bed or going out.

As soon as the needles begin to fall get rid of the tree.

And one last word of precaution to parents buying those cute toys run by alcohol or other flammable liquids—they are for the older boy, not the careless youngster.

TRASH OR TREASURE?

No one should envy the managers of the new television show, "Trash or Treasure?" Viewers are invited to bring in personal possessions and curios which they think might have unusual value, and submit them for appraisal. The most valuable articles are displayed on the screen with an invitation to guess their value, and a prize for the best guesser.

The trouble is that real finds are few indeed. Many objects which their owners cherish are really worth nothing at all, and they are apt to be indignant when told so. They will not believe, for example, that "a very old book," which proves to be published in the 1880's, is not worth hundreds of dollars, and they may vent their disappointment on the show.

Curators of art museums have much the same problem. Wealthy citizens whom the museum would like to propitiate offer with pride their grandfather's portrait, an artistic horror, and wax angry if the museum does not accept it with joy.

In many cases there is only too much reason to feel disappointment. Often the owner is in serious financial straits, and hopes wistfully that some trophy, rescued from the attic, may be the key to salvation. The experts to whom they submit their treasures find it their hardest task to be compelled to shatter these hopes.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

NO JAZZ FOR JOE

In a monolithic world, even jazz becomes a political problem. Jazz is a kind of syncopated music which some people like to hear and have a right to under the Constitution. It is reputed to have been invented in New Orleans and its greatest exponent, I am told, is William C. Handy, one of the finest human beings I have ever encountered. Irving Berlin wrote "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in this mood when we were all younger, and there was a band called Jellyroll Morton's Red Hot Peppers.

However, I discover that M. Sokolsky, who must be a music commissar in Soviet Russia, and no relative of mine for all I know, has declared jazz condemned. He writes a long article on the subject which I have just read. In the United States anybody can like any kind of music from a hurdy-gurdy to Bach, Beethoven and Brahms without offending the government. True, Mr. Truman wrote a letter on the subject once, but no laws were broken. In Soviet Russia, it is different: jazz is condemned.

Says the music commissar, M. Sokolsky:

"What, indeed, is less 'in harmony' with our music, our Soviet songs, the Soviet people's great wealth of folklore, than a saxophone throbbing like an aching tooth or howling away, than trombones roaring deafeningly, than muted trumpets squealing, or the monotonous, dull thump of the whole family of percussion instruments relentlessly hammering into the listeners' consciousness the mechanically repetitious rhythms of fox trot or rumba?

"No! We are resolutely opposed to the artificial combination of our music with the jazz band; those who try to squeeze our music into jazz form by main force mutilate and mangle it."

It just goes to show that no two races of man can agree on anything. I was reading in this article a quotation from the original American-hater, Maxim Gorky, and I was sure what he was describing was a symphony by Shostakovich as conducted by Leonard Bernstein:

"Suddenly the thoughtful silence is broken by the full beat of an idictic drumstick—one, two, three, ten, 20 drumbeats and then, like a lump of mud dropped into clear, transparent water, there comes a wild shrieking, whistling, roaring, howling and banging; inhuman voices, suggestive of a horse's neighing, burst forth; there is the grunting of brass pigs, the braying of donkeys, the croaking of frogs a-wooing; all this outrageous chaos of mad sound follows a barely perceptible rhythm; and after listening for a minute or two to these wails one involuntarily begins to imagine that an orchestra of madmen is performing."

But no! This is not Shostakovich; it is a description of American jazz. Gorky probably never heard of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," or the glorious music of "Porgy and Bess." For him, it is enough that jazz was made in America for it to be hated. Here is the punch line that tells the story:

"Need one mention to that jazz in the U.S.A. is not just 'art,' but, like the Hollywood 'industry,' a business, an article of export. They call jazz there 'the music of big business.' The U.S.A. 'bestows upon' the Marshallized countries tens of millions of jazz records, along with Hollywood's trash. There is double profit and a double purpose in this: to dispose of unsold stocks and by the scrunch and squeal and roar of senseless, stupefying jazz 'music' to deafen, to kill the man in men, to turn them into cannon fodder. Jazz is the music of enslavement of the spirit. . . ."

In other words, jazz has politics, just as coarse grains and rubber have politics. There is so much politics in this world today that it has become a sickening treacle that pervades our lives. The British defend selling rubber to Stalin because they get coarse grains from him. They can also get coarse grains from the United States or Canada where they are plentiful but non-political. The British prefer political coarse grains, just as the Labour Party made a fetish of political peanuts in Africa.

I wonder if Stalin will one day condemn beer, Rhine wine and Burgundies and force all his slaves to drink Vodka. This could be regarded as a political interpretation of the economics of a hangover and might be brought before the General Assembly of the United Nations as an example of genocide. When politics is the ruler, taste must fade on the vine.

NEW TREATMENT FOR PSORIASIS

The skin disease known as psoriasis, while not causing dangerous symptoms, is very disfiguring and unfortunately the patient fails to use the best known treatment—sun and air—because he naturally dislikes exposing this skin affliction.

Psoriasis is readily recognized as it has the appearance of plaster stuck on the skin. There are white, pear-like scales on these lumps which, when removed, leave the underlying skin with a red appearance and sometimes a bleeding surface. For years the commonest method of treatment was by X-ray, then later the avoidance of all fat foods—butter, cream, fat meats, nuts—and still later the use of vitamins A and D, and finally the antibiotics—germ-killer drugs, sulfa drugs and penicillin.

In the Journal of Investigative Dermatology (skin diseases), Dr. M. T. R. Maynard states that the fact that many psoriasis-form eruptions that accompany a deficiency or lack of riboflavin (vitamin B) responded rapidly to injections of riboflavin induced him to try riboflavin in psoriasis. Although more than 200 patients with psoriasis have been treated with riboflavin, Dr. Maynard reports results in only 148 of the 200 since follow-up was incomplete in the others.

From 5 to 10 mg. of riboflavin was injected into the muscles, usually once a week, and roboflavin was given by mouth daily. No local treatment of the skin was used until the response to the riboflavin was established, and then it was only applied to the skin to bring about quicker results for cosmetic reasons.

Thirty-seven patients were completely cured. Great improvement (80 per cent or better) was obtained in 76, and improvement of 50 per cent or more was obtained in 25. The remaining 10 patients showed slight or no improvement.

It must be admitted that the above results obtained by use of riboflavin were unusually good, as patients with psoriasis often have to live a secluded life and develop an inferiority complex.

Skin specialists report that many psoriasis patients obtain a temporary cure by a vacation in the sunshine, winter or summer.

The treatment used for many years was arsenic internally and a mercury ointment externally.

"Who Says This Isn't the Land of Opportunity?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It was probably a mixture of nostalgic loneliness plus just a bit of personal pique that caused the big furore over MacArthur and Eisenhower, the Truman press conference, and the MacArthur speech that he knew the way out in Korea.

To understand it you have to go back to the days when a young major occupied a desk in the extreme outer office of the chief of staff in the old State, War and Navy Building in Washington. The chief of staff in those days was Douglas MacArthur, about 50 years old, dynamic, straight as a ramrod and given to pacing up and down his office nervously toying with a Japanese fan.

The young officer about three offices removed was Maj. Dwight Eisenhower, who wrote brilliant speeches for the chief of staff, but otherwise was completely overshadowed by the vibrant-voiced general who dominated the War Department.

That was in 1932. The years passed. The pendulum of fate swung back and forth to change the positions of these two.

Major Eisenhower went to the Philippines with the general, helped him train the Philippine constabulary, differed with him, was shipped home. Reasons for the friction vary. Some Filipinos say they found the major was doing the real planning for Philippine defense, figured they could pay the major, save the money they were paying the general. Naturally the general got sore.

European Asiatic Commanders

At any rate, the pendulum of fate, still swinging, put the major, now a major general, in command in North Africa, then in Europe. It was up to him to get as many troops, as many supplies as possible. A dynamic personality, Winston Churchill, backed him. Naturally the troops and supplies he got lessened those for his old commanding general in the Far East. So the young major, now a full-fledged general, won his European part of the war first.

Three years passed, an election came up, and some Republicans talked about drafting the old general, now in Tokyo. Many Democrats also talked about drafting the young major, now president of a university. However he said no.

But various publishers, visiting Tokyo, had so buttered up the old general that Gen. Bob Eichelberger, then his deputy commander, tells how on July 4, 1948, just before the Republican convention in Philadelphia, he gave the general the review of his life—Army, Navy, Waves, Wac—polished up with lick and spittle. And the old general stood erect, straight-as-a-ramrod, his arm rigidly at salute, talking out of the side of his mouth to Eichelberger.

"They're not going to take Dewey," said the old general, his eyes fixed on the parade but not really watching it. "The leaders don't like him. And they're not going to take Taft. He hasn't got enough sex appeal. Warren of California won't go with Wall Street. And Vandenberg's got a bad heart.

"So when it's all over they're going to have to come back to me," concluded the old general. "That's their only alternative—if they want to win."

"Look at those Wacs, general," said Eichelberger, trying to get his chief's mind off politics. "You know Wacs look different going than they do coming."

Disappointment in Philadelphia

But the old general was interested only in what happened when the Republicans convened in Philadelphia. And he told Eichelberger to get ready to take over in Tokyo.

In Philadelphia next week, "MacArthur headquarters" was bedecked with banners, its tables stacked with literature. But few came to read the literature, and fewer voted for him when the roll was called on the convention floor.

So swung the pendulum of fate. It continued to swing. Two years passed. Came the Korean war. Things did not go well for the old general. The victory which the American people expected overnight, the quick-and-easy humbling of Communist forces, did not come. Regardless of who was to blame, there were bitter moments for the old general and for the American public.

Politics got into the act. Republican leaders in Washington began using the old general. He began playing into their hands. Finally he was ordered home.

Remarked the young major, now a five-star general in Europe: "When you put on the uniform there are certain inhibitions you accept."

A year later, he came home to run for President, despite a warning from the old general in Lansing, Mich., that no military man should serve in the White House. And despite the old general's keynote speech, calculated to stop him, the young major was nominated.

Five Minutes' Walk

As the pendulum swung further and as it looked like a close race on November 4, certain friends approached the old general urging him to endorse the young major who once sat in his outer office and who was now running for President. No less than the ex-President of the United States approached him; and Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase Bank, and Gen. George Kenny, his old air commander in the South Pacific.

"Look, boss," said Kenny, "it's only a five-minute walk from here to Eisenhower's suite in the Commodore Hotel."

"And it's only a five-minute walk from the Commodore here," replied the old general.

So November 4 came, and the man whom the old general still thinks of as a young major, won. He won even without the endorsement of his old commander, without the margin of votes his commander might have swung to him.

Sitting alone in the Waldorf Tower since then, the old general has had plenty of time to think. For no matter who you are or what you say, it's not easy just to fade away.

And the real reason for the old general's speech suggesting a way out in Korea—if only he were consulted—was that the old general wanted to shake hands again with the young major who once sat writing speeches in the extreme outer office of the general staff suite of the old state, war, and navy building. For the truth is that the old general has been lonesome.

Six Phantom Kings

Charles VII of Sweden (1155-1167) was not the Seventh but the First. The other six Charleses were a figment of the imagination of Johannes Magnus (1488-1544), the Swedish historian who was the Bishop of Upsala. All the subsequent Swedish kings from Charles VIII to Charles XV were all misnumbered on account of the six kings who never existed.

Today in Washington

Eisenhower Is Not Making Present Policies, Despite Widespread Impression

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 16—Too many people—judging by letters and comments—have the impression that General Eisenhower is already operating as President of the United States. They know, of course, that he will not be inaugurated until January 20, but the trip to Korea, the announcement of the names of all the members of the new cabinet and the actual beginning in Washington of conferences between outgoing and incoming officials have produced a rather unusual impression that policies are being made by the President-elect. This isn't the case.

The hazardous journey to Korea has been looked upon by people generally as a move designed to find a solution to the problems of the Far East, but there are some critics who think that, because the President-elect hasn't announced his solution or because he says there is no magic formula, things aren't a bit different from what they have been.

The real difference is this: The Truman administration has been content to let matters drift. General Eisenhower, by the carefully chosen phrases of the statement he made on his return, indicates he doesn't intend to let matters drift. Nor does he plan to announce exactly what he has in mind so that the Communists will know about it in advance.

There wasn't any question, despite Mr. Truman's "sour grapes" attitude, but that a leader with General Eisenhower's background could learn much from a first-hand look at the Korean situation. It is just the kind of problem that the man who led the Normandy expedition into France in 1944 is capable of analyzing. What the President-elect said on his return is full of significance for those who measure carefully the phrases of a prepared statement. Thus he said:

"I return with renewed confidence that a satisfactory solution in Korea can be speeded."

This means the general thinks something can be done to change the outlook from interminable war to a terminable war based on an honorable truce.

Again he said:

"All of us have long realized that there can be no simple formula for bringing a swift, victorious end to this war. But at the very least that knowledge prepares us for whatever tough tasks lie ahead."

This means that there isn't gong to be a complacency toward or acquiescence in the existing situation. Some "tough tasks" ahead suggest ventures in an intensified war to induce a truce. This is illustrated in another sentence:

"For we face an enemy whom we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

This is a welcome variation from the old theme that America must do nothing because of a fear of enlarging the war. On that subject the general touched, too:

"I believe that the architects of aggression can be made to realize that it would be fateful folly to ignite other conflagrations like the Korean conflict elsewhere in the world."

The foregoing is a warning to Soviet Russia of unmistakable clarity. It will be noted in Moscow that Eisenhower isn't timid and isn't afraid to issue a warning that any enlargement of the "cold war" by more Koreas would be a dangerous thing for Russia to try. The whole statement, on the other hand, though full of firmness and resoluteness, is pacific in its nature, as the General concludes:

"This journey marks not the end but the beginning of a new effort to conclude honorably this phase of the global struggle."

The President-elect is being twitted by some who misrepresent and distort his campaign speeches. He didn't promise to end the Korean War overnight. But he did promise to do something—to seek and plan a solution. This he has already started on—a series of steps calculated to bring the Korean war to an end in the not-far-distant future. The results of the Korean trip will be unfolded from time to time after January 20. But it is significant to note the general's comment that "in the strictly military sphere, certain problems of supply have reached rather serious proportions and require only correction."

In due time the world will come to know the meaning of his veiled reference to a stand-still policy which the enemy misunderstood as a willingness to agree to a stalemate. There is, therefore, distinct progress already toward an ultimate solution of the Korean problem.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It goes without saying that men and women who have been wounded in our wars or injured or have incurred diseases while "under arms" in time of war, police action or that permanent "emergency" which is now firmly established, should receive free treatment for those difficulties and all complications ensuing therefrom. It is not advisable, however, to maintain special hospitals exclusively for all such patients. Some special hospitals are justified. But eminent doctors and civic statesmen of the laiety who have argued in favor of greater absorption of this "practice" into the civilian hospital system have been abused for their courage and wisdom.

The Veterans Administration has built up a tremendous bureaucracy which is obviously parasitic. However, the citizen who states the facts invites scurrilous abuse. Much of it comes from racketeers who thrive by posing as protectors of helpless heroes against the gross ingratitude of men too mean to pay fair taxes to succor warriors who saved them from our foes. Then, too, some real wounded fighting men are likely to misinterpret the arguments. They may be induced to suspect that persons who are actually trying to serve the deserving veteran patients best, and prevent gold-bricks from soaking up taxes, have no motive but heartless greed.

The expansion of the system of government hospitals dealing in general "veterans" practice, including even obstetrics and gynecology for women who were wheedled into uniform without the slightest military excuse, is bad for the whole country. There is no reason why a young woman who served a hitch in the Waes or Waves some years ago and is now married should have her babies at public expense on the veterans' basis.

The American Legion's "policy," as it has been explained to me, is that sick veterans, including former service girls who are having babies, should be admitted to veterans "facilities," but should be required to pay if they can. But no strict test is made to prove whether they can pay. The result is that many who can pay, don't. These veterans no more deserve free treatment and hospital accommodation from the Veterans Administration than any other civilian suffering from the same trouble who never wore a uniform. I am discussing "non-service-connected" patients, of course.

We boast that we live under a government of laws and under our laws everyone does his duty in war. So the fact that a man or woman did not serve in the "armed forces" is no just reason to discriminate against him or her. There is no reason why that person should have to pay taxes to "hospitalize" a veteran for something unconnected with any military experience. If a young man ducks the draft, punish him according to the draft law. But don't put him under a permanent cloud as a sort of slacker by implying that he owes it to some bum who happens to be a "veteran" to keep him at ease for life because he is a drunkard.

Nowadays a drunkard who can show that he had a record of drunkenness under arms is supposed to owe his addiction to his military service. He became a drunkard in the line of duty so, whenever he ties a bag on and winds up on Skid Row, we must ship him to a special veterans' "facility" and pay him a daily cash allowance as a "patient" until he is cooled out and goes forth to do it again. In fact he needn't even show a service record of drunkenness. He may have become a souse after he got out.

It is sad that a veteran with, let us say, two children and a careworn wife, comes down of liver complaint which makes it necessary for him to go to a hospital. It is disastrous in many cases. But to give that man a veteran's preference and ignore the same plight of a non-service man with a similar family who tried to enlist but was turned down because he was even then suffering from the very same complaint that now lays him low, is plainly unfair. This is the way toward universal free medical and hospital care, that horrible thing

IT'S TIME TO HURDLE A BARRIER

The barriers to mutual understanding between America and other peoples often seem hopelessly high. With today's remarkable communications and transportation, the flow of men and information around the globe is swifter and greater than ever in history. Yet misunderstanding abounds.

Why this should be so is a subject big enough for a book. We won't tackle it here, but look instead at just one narrow front.

Americans who work abroad for their government too often do not try genuinely to understand the people and the country where they are living. They tend rather to import a little piece of the United States with them, to surround themselves with the material comforts of home, to join in colonies of their fellow countrymen who comprise slightly larger transported Americas.

Some of this may be done in all innocence, by those who at the same time profess earnest wishes to learn of the foreign land they live in. But we cannot escape the fact that, whatever the intent, the effect upon our friends abroad is generally bad.

The material commonplaces of our everyday way of life are more often than not luxuries to foreigners. They resent our lavish habits. They resent our keeping to ourselves in isolated colonies. They see it as a reflection upon them as not worth knowing.

Perhaps some of this feeling is natural envy for our fortunate economic status. But it seems plain from the behavior of U. S. missions abroad that our workers do not make a really notable effort to understand foreigners in their own terms, to know them, appreciate their differences, learn to admire their good qualities.

Isn't it time we got a different outlook?

CHRISTMAS TREE PRECAUTIONS

Feeling that a little knowledge of Christmas tree hazards and how to prevent tragic fires will help keep Christmas the merry holiday it should be, B. Richter Townsend, chief of the fire bureau in the state division of safety offers these safety tips:

Select a small tree and keep it outside until a few days before Christmas.

Before setting the tree up inside, cut the trunk on a diagonal and use a pail of water for the base. This will help to keep the tree moist.

Set up tree in the coolest part of the house. Shut off nearby sources of heat if necessary.

Never use lighted candles.

Check electric wiring—don't overload circuits.

Keep bulbs from touching branches.

Don't allow children to play with electrical toys under tree.

Remove accumulation of gift wrappings from under tree.

Turn off tree lights before going to bed or going out.

As soon as the needles begin to fall get rid of the tree.

And one last word of precaution to parents buying those cute toys run by alcohol or other flammable liquids—they are for the older boy, not the careless youngster.

TRASH OR TREASURE?

No one should envy the managers of the new television show, "Trash or Treasure?" Viewers are invited to bring in personal possessions and curios which they think might have unusual value, and submit them for appraisal. The most valuable articles are displayed on the screen with an invitation to guess their value, and a prize for the best guesser.

The trouble is that real finds are few indeed. Many objects which their owners cherish are really worth nothing at all, and they are apt to be indignant when told so. They will not believe, for example, that "a very old book," which proves to be published in the 1880's, is not worth hundreds of dollars, and they may vent their disappointment on the show.

Curators of art museums have much the same problem. Wealthy citizens whom the museum would like to propitiate offer with pride their grandfather's portrait, an artistic horror, and wax angry if the museum does not accept it with joy.

In many cases there is only too much reason to feel disappointment. Often the owner is in serious financial straits, and hopes wistfully that some trophy, rescued from the attic, may be the key to salvation. The experts to whom they submit their treasures find it their hardest task to be compelled to shatter these hopes.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

NO JAZZ FOR JOE

In a monolithic world, even jazz becomes a political problem. Jazz is a kind of syncopated music which some people like to hear and have a right to under the Constitution. It is reputed to have been invented in New Orleans and its greatest exponent, I am told, is William C. Handy, one of the finest human beings I have ever encountered. Irving Berlin wrote "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in this mood when we were all younger, and there was a band called Jellyroll Morton's Red Hot Peppers.

However, I discover that M. Sokolsky, who must be a music commissar in Soviet Russia, and no relative of mine for all I know, has declared jazz condemned. He writes a long article on the subject which I have just read. In the United States anybody can like any kind of music from a hurdy-gurdy to Bach, Beethoven and Brahms without offending the government. True, Mr. Truman wrote a letter on the subject once, but no laws were broken. In Soviet Russia, it is different: jazz is condemned.

Says the music commissar, M. Sokolsky:

"What, indeed, is less 'in harmony' with our music, our Soviet songs, the Soviet people's great wealth of folklore, than a saxophone throbbing like an aching tooth or howling away, than trombones roaring deafeningly, than muted trumpets squealing, or the monotonous, dull thump of the whole family of percussion instruments relentlessly hammering into the listeners' consciousness the mechanically repetitious rhythms of fox trot or rumba?

"No! We are resolutely opposed to the artificial combination of our music with the jazz band; those who try to squeeze our music into jazz form by main force mutilate and mangle it."

It just goes to show that no two races of man can agree on anything. I was reading in this article a quotation from the original American-hater, Maxim Gorky, and I was sure what he was describing was a symphony by Shostakovich as conducted by Leonard Bernstein:

"Suddenly the thoughtful silence is broken by the full beat of an idictic drumstick—one, two, three, ten, 20 drumbeats and then, like a lump of mud dropped into clear, transparent water, there comes a wild shrieking, whistling, roaring, howling and banging; inhuman voices, suggestive of a horse's neighing, burst forth; there is the grunting of brass pigs, the braying of donkeys, the croaking of frogs a-wooing; all this outrageous chaos of mad sound follows a barely perceptible rhythm; and after listening for a minute or two to these wails one involuntarily begins to imagine that an orchestra of madmen is performing."

But no! This is not Shostakovich; it is a description of American jazz. Gorky probably never heard of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," or the glorious music of "Porgy and Bess." For him, it is enough that jazz was made in America for it to be hated. Here is the punch line that tells the story:

"Need one mention to that jazz in the U.S.A. is not just 'art,' but, like the Hollywood 'industry,' a business, an article of export. They call jazz there 'the music of big business.' The U.S.A. 'bestows upon' the Marshallized countries tens of millions of jazz records, along with Hollywood's trash. There is double profit and a double purpose in this: to dispose of unsold stocks and by the scrunch and squeal and roar of senseless, stupefying jazz 'music' to deafen, to kill the man in men, to turn them into cannon fodder. Jazz is the music of enslavement of the spirit. . . ."

In other words, jazz has politics, just as coarse grains and rubber have politics. There is so much politics in this world today that it has become a sickening treacle that pervades our lives. The British defend selling rubber to Stalin because they get coarse grains from him. They can also get coarse grains from the United States or Canada where they are plentiful but non-political. The British prefer political coarse grains, just as the Labour Party made a fetish of political peanuts in Africa.

I wonder if Stalin will one day condemn beer, Rhine wine and Burgundies and force all his slaves to drink Vodka. This could be regarded as a political interpretation of the economics of a hangover and might be brought before the General Assembly of the United Nations as an example of genocide. When politics is the ruler, taste must fade on the vine.

"Who Says This Isn't the Land of Opportunity?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It was probably a mixture of nostalgic loneliness plus just a bit of personal pique that caused the big furore over MacArthur and Eisenhower, the Truman press conference, and the MacArthur speech that he knew the way out in Korea.

To understand it you have to go back to the days when a young major occupied a desk in the extreme outer office of the chief of staff in the old State, War and Navy Building in Washington. The chief of staff in those days was Douglas MacArthur, about 50 years old, dynamic, straight as a ramrod and given to pacing up and down his office nervously toying with a Japanese fan.

The young officer about three offices removed was Maj. Dwight Eisenhower, who wrote brilliant speeches for the chief of staff, but otherwise was completely overshadowed by the vibrant-voiced general who dominated the War Department.

That was in 1932. The years passed. The pendulum of fate swung back and forth to change the positions of these two.

Major Eisenhower went to the Philippines with the general, helped him train the Philippine constabulary, differed with him, was shipped home. Reasons for the friction vary. Some Filipinos say they found the major was doing the real planning for Philippine defense, figured they could pay the major, save the money they were paying the general. Naturally the general got sore.

European Asiatic Commanders

At any rate, the pendulum of fate, still swinging, put the major, now a major general, in command in North Africa, then in Europe. It was up to him to get as many troops, as many supplies as possible. A dynamic personality, Winston Churchill, backed him. Naturally the troops and supplies he got lessened those for his old commanding general in the Far East. So the young major, now a full-fledged general, won his European part of the war first.

Three years passed, an election came up, and some Republicans talked about drafting the old general, now in Tokyo. Many Democrats also talked about drafting the young major, now president of a university. However he said no.

But various publishers, visiting Tokyo, had so buttered up the old general that Gen. Bob Eichelberger, then his deputy commander, tells how on July 4, 1948, just before the Republican convention in Philadelphia, he gave the general the review of his life—Army, Navy, Waves, Wac—polished up with lick and spittle. And the old general stood erect, straight-as-a-ramrod, his arm rigidly at salute, talking out of the side of his mouth to Eichelberger.

"They're not going to take Dewey," said the old general, his eyes fixed on the parade but not really watching it. "The leaders don't like him. And they're not going to take Taft. He hasn't got enough sex appeal. Warren of California won't go with Wall Street. And Vandenberg's got a bad heart.

"So when it's all over they're going to have to come back to me," concluded the old general. "That's their only alternative—if they want to win."

"Look at those Wacs, general," said Eichelberger, trying to get his chief's mind off politics. "You know Wacs look different going than they do coming."

Disappointment in Philadelphia

But the old general was interested only in what happened when the Republicans convened in Philadelphia. And he told Eichelberger to get ready to take over in Tokyo.

In Philadelphia next week, "MacArthur headquarters" was bedecked with banners, its tables stacked with literature. But few came to read the literature, and fewer voted for him when the roll was called on the convention floor.

So swung the pendulum of fate. It continued to swing. Two years passed. Came the Korean war. Things did not go well for the old general. The victory which the American people expected overnight, the quick-and-easy humbling of Communist forces, did not come. Regardless of who was to blame, there were bitter moments for the old general and for the American public.

Politics got into the act. Republican leaders in Washington began using the old general. He began playing into their hands. Finally he was ordered home.

Remarked the young major, now a five-star general in Europe: "When you put on the uniform there are certain inhibitions you accept."

A year later, he came home to run for President, despite a warning from the old general in Lansing, Mich., that no military man should serve in the White House. And despite the old general's keynote speech, calculated to stop him, the young major was nominated.

Five Minutes' Walk

As the pendulum swung further and as it looked like a close race on November 4, certain friends approached the old general urging him to endorse the young major who once sat in his outer office and who was now running for President. No less than the ex-President of the United States approached him; and Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase Bank, and Gen. George Kenny, his old air commander in the South Pacific.

"Look, boss," said Kenny, "it's only a five-minute walk from here to Eisenhower's suite in the Commodore Hotel."

"And it's only a five-minute walk from the Commodore here," replied the old general.

So November 4 came, and the man whom the old general still thinks of as a young major, won. He won even without the endorsement of his old commander, without the margin of votes his commander might have swung to him.

Sitting alone in the Waldorf Tower since then, the old general has had plenty of time to think. For no matter who you are or what you say, it's not easy just to fade away.

And the real reason for the old general's speech suggesting a way out in Korea—if only he were consulted—was that the old general wanted to shake hands again with the young major who once sat writing speeches in the extreme outer office of the general staff suite of the old state, war, and navy building. For the truth is that the old general has been lonesome.

Six Phantom Kings

Charles VII of Sweden (1155-1167) was not the Seventh but the First. The other six Charleses were a figment of the imagination of Johannes Magnus (1488-1544), the Swedish historian who was the Bishop of Upsala. All the subsequent Swedish kings from Charles VIII to Charles XV were all misnumbered on account of the six kings who never existed.

Today in Washington

Eisenhower Is Not Making Present Policies, Despite Widespread Impression

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 16—Too many people—judging by letters and comments—have the impression that General Eisenhower is already operating as President of the United States. They know, of course, that he will not be inaugurated until January 20, but the trip to Korea, the announcement of the names of all the members of the new cabinet and the actual beginning in Washington of conferences between outgoing and incoming officials have produced a rather unusual impression that policies are being made by the President-elect. This isn't the case.

The hazardous journey to Korea has been looked upon by people generally as a move designed to find a solution to the problems of the Far East, but there are some critics who think that, because the President-elect hasn't announced his solution or because he says there is no magic formula, things aren't a bit different from what they have been.

The real difference is this: The Truman administration has been content to let matters drift. General Eisenhower, by the carefully chosen phrases of the statement he made on his return, indicates he doesn't intend to let matters drift. Nor does he plan to announce exactly what he has in mind so that the Communists will know about it in advance.

There wasn't any question, despite Mr. Truman's "sour grapes" attitude, but that a leader with General Eisenhower's background could learn much from a first-hand look at the Korean situation. It is just the kind of problem that the man who led the Normandy expedition into France in 1944 is capable of analyzing. What the President-elect said on his return is full of significance for those who measure carefully the phrases of a prepared statement. Thus he said:

"I return with renewed confidence that a satisfactory solution in Korea can be speeded."

This means the general thinks something can be done to change the outlook from interminable war to a terminable war based on an honorable truce.

Again he said:

"All of us have long realized that there can be no simple formula for bringing a swift, victorious end to this war. But at the very least that knowledge prepares us for whatever tough tasks lie ahead."

This means that there isn't gong to be a complacency toward or acquiescence in the existing situation. Some "tough tasks" ahead suggest ventures in an intensified war to induce a truce. This is illustrated in another sentence:

"For we face an enemy whom we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

This is a welcome variation from the old theme that America must do nothing because of a fear of enlarging the war. On that subject the general touched, too:

"I believe that the architects of aggression can be made to realize that it would be fateful folly to ignite other conflagrations like the Korean conflict elsewhere in the world."

The foregoing is a warning to Soviet Russia of unmistakable clarity. It will be noted in Moscow that Eisenhower isn't timid and isn't afraid to issue a warning that any enlargement of the "cold war" by more Koreas would be a dangerous thing for Russia to try. The whole statement, on the other hand, though full of firmness and resoluteness, is pacific in its nature, as the General concludes:

"This journey marks not the end but the beginning of a new effort to conclude honorably this phase of the global struggle."

The President-elect is being twitted by some who misrepresent and distort his campaign speeches. He didn't promise to end the Korean War overnight. But he did promise to do something—to seek and plan a solution. This ne has already started on—a series of steps calculated to bring the Korean war to an end in the not-far-distant future. The results of the Korean trip will be unfolded from time to time after January 20. But it is significant to note the general's comment that "in the strictly military sphere, certain problems of supply have reached rather serious proportions and require only correction."

In due time the world will come to know the meaning of his veiled reference to a stand-still policy which the enemy misunderstood as a willingness to agree to a stalemate. There is, therefore, distinct progress already toward an ultimate solution of the Korean problem.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It goes without saying that men and women who have been wounded in our wars or injured or have incurred diseases while "under arms" in time of war, police action or that permanent "emergency" which is now firmly established, should receive free treatment for those difficulties and all complications ensuing therefrom. It is not advisable, however, to maintain special hospitals exclusively for all such patients. Some special hospitals are justified. But eminent doctors and civic statesmen of the laiety who have argued in favor of greater absorption of this "practice" into the civilian hospital system have been abused for their courage and wisdom.

The Veterans Administration has built up a tremendous bureaucracy which is obviously parasitic. However, the citizen who states the facts invites scurrilous abuse. Much of it comes from racketeers who thrive by posing as protectors of helpless heroes against the gross ingratitude of men too mean to pay fair taxes to succor warriors who saved them from our foes. Then, too, some real wounded fighting men are likely to misinterpret the arguments. They may be induced to suspect that persons who are actually trying to serve the deserving veteran patients best, and prevent gold-bricks from soaking up taxes, have no motive but heartless greed.

The expansion of the system of government hospitals dealing in general "veterans" practice, including even obstetrics and gynecology for women who were wheedled into uniform without the slightest military excuse, is bad for the whole country. There is no reason why a young woman who served a hitch in the Waes or Waves some years ago and is now married should have her babies at public expense on the veterans' basis.

The American Legion's "policy," as it has been explained to me, is that sick veterans, including former service girls who are having babies, should be admitted to veterans "facilities," but should be required to pay if they can. But no strict test is made to prove whether they can pay. The result is that many who can pay, don't. These veterans no more deserve free treatment and hospital accommodation from the Veterans Administration than any other civilian suffering from the same trouble who never wore a uniform. I am discussing "non-service-connected" patients, of course.

We boast that we live under a government of laws and under our laws everyone does his duty in war. So the fact that a man or woman did not serve in the "armed forces" is no just reason to discriminate against him or her. There is no reason why that person should have to pay taxes to "hospitalize" a veteran for something unconnected with any military experience. If a young man ducks the draft, punish him according to the draft law. But don't put him under a permanent cloud as a sort of slacker by implying that he owes it to some bum who happens to be a "veteran" to keep him at ease for life because he is a drunkard.

Nowadays a drunkard who can show that he had a record of drunkenness under arms is supposed to owe his addiction to his military service. He became a drunkard in the line of duty so, whenever he ties a bag on and winds up on Skid Row, we must ship him to a special veterans' "facility" and pay him a daily cash allowance as a "patient" until he is cooled out and goes forth to do it again. In fact he needn't even show a service record of drunkenness. He may have become a souse after he got out.

It is sad that a veteran with, let us say, two children and a careworn wife, comes down of liver complaint which makes it necessary for him to go to a hospital. It is disastrous in many cases. But to give that man a veteran's preference and ignore the same plight of a non-service man with a similar family who tried to enlist but was turned down because he was even then suffering from the very same complaint that now lays him low, is plainly unfair. This is the way toward universal free medical and hospital care, that horrible thing

The ideal book on bridge for beginners shouldn't make the mistake of teaching them all the tricks. Maybe that's why my friend and associate, Freddie Sheinwold, keeps things simple and light in his brand new "First Book of Bridge," written for teenage boys and girls.

In today's hand, the spade and heart suits are taken from his book. He points out that South can make two spade tricks by leading the queen of spades from dummy and letting it ride for a finesse.

If East makes the mistake of covering the queen of spades with the king, South wins with the ace and then returns a spade to finesse dummy's nine. This gives South three spade tricks instead of only two.

East should play low on the first spade, allowing dummy's queen to win the trick. If declarer then continues by leading the jack of spades, East correctly plays the king. This limits South to two spade tricks.

The situation is just the reverse in hearts. Declarer leads the queen of hearts from dummy, and this time East must play his king. This limits South to two heart tricks. If East failed to cover, the queen of hearts would win, and declarer could then continue by finessing the jack of hearts.

Sheinwold explains all of this in the simplest language, but he doesn't tell the full story of what happened when today's hand was played. West led the queen of clubs, and Sheinwold, who was playing the South hand, saw at a glance that he might be limited to two tricks in each suit if he simply played "according to the book."

To avoid this fate he played a low club from dummy and dropped the six of clubs from his own hand. This false card made it appear that East held the deuce of clubs and that the three of clubs was the beginning of an encouraging signal.

West fell for the swindle by leading the eight of clubs next, thus giving declarer three club tricks. This was enough to assure the contract.

There is no mystery about the origin of "lock, stock and barrel" but it goes back to the days when the early settlers replaced just one part of their guns at a time. It was apt to be a part of the trigger and hammer assembly, (the lock) or a new barrel. So when it was necessary to emphasize the completeness of a deal, they used the "lock, stock and barrel" or the whole darned gun, for a comparison.

As Pegler Sees It

which the British brought upon themselves under their Socialist government. If a veteran has no money and his wife and children are destitute, what about his brothers and sisters? What about the wife's relatives? It is not an answer to say that they would rather sleep in the park and scratch at garbage cans. The non-service man's wife and children presumably are just as nice and sensitive, and long human experience shows that many families do rally when disaster strikes. If not, then the regular civilian public "facilities" should be good enough for the veteran.

The thing to do is to build up the civilian "facilities" so that they can take care of veterans, too, including even "amputees." There is no special type of anatomy or pathology in veterans.

New York civil hospitals handle amputations, gunshot wounds, cerebral and visceral cases every day of the year. They are in bad shape from overcrowding and lack of enlargement, but veterans' preference and the veterans' hospital system are one of the important contributory reasons why the civil hospitals have lagged. The tax money has been drained off. People have much less money left to give to hospital "drives." The federal hospitals can pay higher wages for nurses and clerks; they offer civil service protection and continuity of income for doctors; and they tend to become clubs for many of the patients and the employes. As the cost of veterans' hospitals increases, the difficulty in expanding and improving civilian "facilities" increases in about the same proportion.

During the New Deal Harold Ickes twice put himself away in the naval hospital at Bethesda, each time with a sitting room and all appropriate meals, medicine and professional care, including nursing, for about $3.50 a day. He told me he didn't know this was against the law. Actually, the law provided only that this hospital should detach a doctor to attend members of Congress at the halls of Congress. Ickes justified himself on the ground that the civilian hospitals were overcrowded and inferior. One reason was that too much money had been spent on unnecessary veterans' accommodations. It didn't occur to Ickes that he was no better than the patients who had to make those accommodations suffice.

The superintendent of the Naval Hospital absolutely refused to discuss the case or the laws pertaining.

I have been reading that Cordell Hull has been in the same hospital for three years, with a sitting room as well as his sickroom. I am sorry Mr. Hull is old and sick, but he has no legitimate right to these accommodations at public expense in the Naval Hospital or anywhere else. If I get sick, I pay, and I am not even allowed to deduct my expenses from my taxable income.

The trip was sprung at 12:15 a. m. They had been convicted of shooting down Detective Sgt. Edmund Tong last March 6 when he approached a suspicious automobile during a hunt for the gang.

Channel Master's Profit Sharing Retirement Fund

Harry Resnick, president of Channel Master Corporation, Ellenville, has announced on the company's fifth birthday anniversary, that it has established a profit sharing retirement fund for all of its employes. It is believed to be the first such move in the industrial history of that area.

The retirement plan is retroactive to Oct. 1, 1951, and more than $150,000 has already been placed in a trust fund to cover the year ending Sept. 30, 1952. In all, 251 employes are now included in the plan.

Outstanding feature of the plan is that it is free to employes, who make absolutely no contribution to it. All money is contributed by Channel Master, the amount being based entirely on company profits.

The corporation will contribute a maximum of 15 per cent of the employe's total earnings. All money is being placed in an independent trust fund, and is completely irrevocable. No part of the fund can be removed or used for purposes other than the exclusive benefit of participating employes and their beneficiaries.

Every employe of the company Sept. 30, 1952, who worked three months or more since Oct. 1951 is eligible to share in the plan. New employes will become participants after working for the company at least three months, providing the employe is still working for the company at the close of its fiscal year, Sept. 30.

Approved by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the plan has been a year in the making, Resnick said.

The program is another step in Channel Master's labor relations policy. Employes already enjoy many benefits including hospitalization, life insurance, paid holidays, paid vacations, and free refreshments in the company cafeteria.

Health for All

Chest X-Rays?

For centuries tuberculosis was known as the "white plague" or "consumption." It killed at will. And for those it struck there seemed to be little hope, and practically no help.

Today, more is known about tuberculosis than ever before, possibly more than about any other infectious disease. Not only is the specific cause known, but the ways in which the bacilli pass from person to person, from the sick to the well, are known. The factors which lower the body's resistance to the bacilli are known. Prevention is possible. Diagnosis is possible at an early stage, when recovery is the rule. Cure is possible.

In spite of this increased knowledge, tuberculosis is still the No. 1 killer among infectious diseases. An estimated 400,000 Americans have active tuberculosis. Of these, there are 150,000 persons with active TB for whom health authorities have no records. Most of these persons do not know they have the disease, do not know they are spreading it to others. And in this country TB is spreading at the rate of 115,000 persons a year.

Early Detection Helps

What can be done about it? The chest X-ray is an important part of the answer. For TB often strikes without obvious symptoms, and signs of whatever damage it has started in the lung will show up on the X-ray film. The chest X-ray is the first step toward early diagnosis. It can detect signs of the disease early, when it is easiest to cure. Of course, a diagnosis of tuberculosis is never made on evidence of a chest X-ray alone. When X-rays show suspicious shadows, the doctor makes additional tests to determine whether a person has tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis can strike anyone, at any age, in any walk of life. It is best not to wait until the obvious symptoms appear. Everyone has his best chance of finding TB early, when it is easiest to cure, by getting chest X-rays regularly, every year.

Quilt Goes 'Down Under'

Centralia, Ill. (AP)—A Perry county farm wife, Mrs. Sam Shaw, made a Holland tulip quilt that got around unexpectedly. She made it for a Milan, Mich., daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry Shaw, who put it in a church bazaar. It was sold for $25 to a visitor from Scotland. The Scot sent it to a New Zealand relative who had asked for an American-made quilt.

Central May Close and express shipments to and from the station, and the number of passengers using it, are rather small.

Opposition to closing the station was voiced by local officials and business men. Under terms of the commission order, however, carload shipments to Cody Coal and Grain Company and the local Grange League Federation agency, the principal freight customers of the station, may still be shipped to Malden on a collect-and-notify basis. Other freight will be sent to and from either Saugerties or Alsen, three and four miles away respectively.

Titus' report concludes that the relatively small volume of less-than-carload freight, passenger and express business handled at the station does not seem to require its continued operation.

No Freight Handled

The commission has authorized the railroad to discontinue the services of the caretaker at its Mount Pleasant station, about three miles east of Phoenicia, and to retire the station building.

In a report to the commission, Examiner F. Leonard Titus states that since 1941 the railroad has maintained a caretaker at the station for two hours daily during the period from Memorial Day to Labor Day only to accommodate vacationists. No freight is handled at the station. He reports also that company records show virtually no use of the station and that no opposition was voiced to the railroad's proposal to close the station.

Oil Can Brings News of Meeting Missed in 1909

J. William Murray failed to attend the meeting of the Ushers Club of the Grant Street Presbyterian Church of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 18, 1909, at 7:20 p. m. because he failed to receive the post card notifying him of the meeting until December 1952. Then the post card was delivered to him by way of Philadelphia on an oil can which arrived last summer at the Hercules Powder Company plant at Port Ewen.

The post card, bearing the familiar McKinley stamp of the early days of the 20th century, never was received by Murray while he was a resident of Wilkes-Barre. Throughout his life he has been associated with the explosives business, and many years ago he moved to Kingston and was associated with the Brewster company at Port Ewen and later with Hercules Powder Company as assistant to the manager prior to his retirement several years ago.

Resident Here Now

Several months ago a shipment of oil was received in new cans from Philadelphia and when the oil was used at the Rercules plant an employe took the can nome. Recently he had use for it and on opening the can observed something white stocking to the bottom. Onexamination it proved to be the post card mailed on Jan. 16, 1909 by the secretary of the Ushers' Club of the Wilkes Barre, Pa., Grand Street Presbyterian Church.

Where the card has been and how it got in an oil can in Philadelphia remains a "believe it or not" problem. Murray now resides at 143 Hurley avenue.

Penney Gives Yule Bonus to Workers

New York, Dec. 16—J. C. Penney Company, nation-wide department store organization, announced today that its directors have authorized a special year-end payment for more than 50,000 associates in the Company's 1,629 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States, including the Kingston store.

The payment will be an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year 1952, and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year.

All Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit-sharing plan. It was made Dec. 15 at each associate's Dec. 15 rate of pay.

In a letter to the firm's associates, A. W. Hughes, president, said the payment was based upon the company's results for 1952. "We are particularly happy to be able to make this payment as a result of what has been accomplished in our 50th anniversary year," he said. "The possibility of future payments of course will continue to depend upon year to year results."

The payment is in addition to the regular company provisions for associates' benefits, including sick benefit, gratuitous death and dismemberment benefit, Thrift and Profit-Sharing Retirement plans, discounts on company purchases and others. It is the sixth to be made since the end of World War 2.

New York Firm Will Publish Romme Cantata

Donald R Romme, minister of music of the Old First Dutch Church, has been notified that J. Fischer Brothers of New York will publish his cantata, The Cross of Christ, in time for the 1953 Lenten season.

The cantata was originally written by Romme in 1946 and rewritten in 1951. Its first public performance was given at the Old Dutch Church here Good Friday, 1951. It was repeated this year on Good Friday and also was performed in March at the Ellenville Reformed Church by the choir of the Old Dutch Church.

It utilizes a scriptural text enhanced with interpolated meditative verses in solo parts.

Asia More Religious

Singapore (AP)—Britain's top diplomat in Asia pictured the decline of religion in the west when he opened a new Sikh temple here recently. "Generally speaking," said Commissioner-Gen. Malcolm MacDonald, "the people of the east place a much higher importance on the things of the spirit than do the peoples of the west. In Asia men of saintly character, moved by religious inspiration, often have more influence in affairs than similar individuals usually exert in Europe and America."

Oil Can Brings News of Meeting Missed in 1909

J. William Murray failed to attend the meeting of the Ushers Club of the Grant Street Presbyterian Church of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 18, 1909, at 7:20 p. m. because he failed to receive the post card notifying him of the meeting until December 1952. Then the post card was delivered to him by way of Philadelphia on an oil can which arrived last summer at the Hercules Powder Company plant at Port Ewen.

The post card, bearing the familiar McKinley stamp of the early days of the 20th century, never was received by Murray while he was a resident of Wilkes-Barre. Throughout his life he has been associated with the explosives business, and many years ago he moved to Kingston and was associated with the Brewster company at Port Ewen and later with Hercules Powder Company as assistant to the manager prior to his retirement several years ago.

Resident Here Now

Several months ago a shipment of oil was received in new cans from Philadelphia and when the oil was used at the Rercules plant an employe took the can nome. Recently he had use for it and on opening the can observed something white stocking to the bottom. Onexamination it proved to be the post card mailed on Jan. 16, 1909 by the secretary of the Ushers' Club of the Wilkes Barre, Pa., Grand Street Presbyterian Church.

Where the card has been and how it got in an oil can in Philadelphia remains a "believe it or not" problem. Murray now resides at 143 Hurley avenue.

Late Afternoon on Area Thruway

The late afternoon sun is almost blanked out by heavy winter clouds over the new Thruway work zone in the area south of Sawkill. Work already has started on the project in the Plank road section near the Onteora Trail. (Freeman Photo).

Penney Gives Yule Bonus to Workers

New York, Dec. 16—J. C. Penney Company, nation-wide department store organization, announced today that its directors have authorized a special year-end payment for more than 50,000 associates in the Company's 1,629 stores, offices and warehouses throughout the United States, including the Kingston store.

The payment will be an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year 1952, and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year."

All Penney associates will share in the payment except management staff members whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long-standing profit-sharing plan. It was made Dec. 15 at each associate's Dec. 15 rate of pay.

In a letter to the firm's associates, A. W. Hughes, president, said the payment was based upon the company's results for 1952. "We are particularly happy to be able to make this payment as a result of what has been accomplished in our 50th anniversary year," he said. "The possibility of future payments of course will continue to depend upon year to year results."

The payment is in addition to the regular company provisions for associates' benefits, including sick benefit, gratuitous death and dismemberment benefit, Thrift and Profit-Sharing Retirement plans, discounts on company purchases and others. It is the sixth to be made since the end of World War 2.

New York Firm Will Publish Romme Cantata

Donald R Romme, minister of music of the Old First Dutch Church, has been notified that J. Fischer Brothers of New York will publish his cantata, The Cross of Christ, in time for the 1953 Lenten season.

The cantata was originally written by Romme in 1946 and rewritten in 1951. Its first public performance was given at the Old Dutch Church here Good Friday, 1951. It was repeated this year on Good Friday and also was performed in March at the Ellenville Reformed Church by the choir of the Old Dutch Church.

It utilizes a scriptural text enhanced with interpolated meditative verses in solo parts.

Salient Facts Are Listed for Exams For City Patrolmen

The Municipal Civil Service Commission today released qualifications for men who plan to apply for the civil service examination Feb. 14 for the appointment of local patrolmen.

Three vacancies now exist, but 13 "additional appointments" will be required when the department's 40-hour week becomes effective, the commission said.

It listed the salary range at $2,830 to $3,190, and said the "entrance salary" would be $3,070.

Candidates must have been legal residents of the city for at least a year "immediately preceding the examination date," and they may obtain applications and information at the city clerk's office, city hall.

All applications must be filed by Jan. 23. The minimum height is five feet six inches, and the height-weight scale is:

Height	Min. Weight	Max. Weight
5'6"	138	165
5'7"	140	173
5'8"	142	179
5'9"	145	185

Asia More Religious

Singapore (AP)—Britain's top diplomat in Asia pictured the decline of religion in the west when he opened a new Sikh temple here recently. "Generally speaking," said Commissioner-Gen. Malcolm MacDonald, "the people of the east place a much higher importance on the things of the spirit than do the peoples of the west. In Asia men of saintly character, moved by religious inspiration, often have more influence in affairs than similar individuals usually exert in Europe and America."

Wolven Is Elected Masonic Master Of Rondout Lodge

Fred W. Wolven was elected master at the 99th annual communication of Rondout Lodge 343, F & A M, at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue Monday night.

Other officers elected were: Edward J. Cochrane, Sr., senior warden; Arthur C. Jones, junior warden; Abraham Rosenthal, treasurer; Fred L. VanDeusen, secretary; the Rev. Herbert Killinder, chaplain; the Rev. Stanley Dean, assistant chaplain; James E. Norton, senior deacon; David Kunst, junior deacon; William H. Williams, senior master of ceremony; William A. Evans, junior master of ceremony; Donald H. Schoonmaker, Jr., marshal; W. William Smith, organist; Fred L. VanDeusen, historian, and Everett Scott, tiler.

Harry Rose was elected lodge trustee for three years, William E. Dederick for two years, and Fred W. Ahlers for one year. Donald H. Schoonmaker, Sr., was re-elected trustee of the Masonic Temple for three years.

Annual reports were read at the session.

The officers were installed by Frank J. Strobel, past master of Rondout Lodge, and past assistant grand lecturer of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District.

Paul Jones, past master of Rondout Lodge, acted as marshal, and had charge of the election, and Richard W. Heffernan, past master of Rondout Lodge, and past district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District, acted as chaplain.

William Spiegel and Lawrence J. Spangenberger were tellers.

Lionel B. Harrington, retiring master, was presented with a camera by Fred W. Wolven on behalf of the lodge.

A full course turkey dinner, prepared by Franklin L. Williams, was served in the dining room before the meeting.

Offensive Seen

Reds right to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria. Then the Chinese Communists intervened. The war surged back and forth across the 38th Parallel, then settled into its present stalemate.

The Reds have massed their forces along the front again and are wide open for an amphibious attack anywhere along the two coasts. The fact that there are two coasts makes it doubly hard for them to guess where the man who led the attack on Anzio might smack them.

Clark took Anzio with power and it is doubtful if he'd try a landing in Korea unless he had the ships to keep pouring men on beach once the attack started.

Would Hammer Line

Once a beachhead were secured, the next move would be to hammer a line right across the peninsula and slam the back door on the Communists massed along the front. Cutting their supply lines would result in a complete chaos and might bring the desired military decision.

Commlnist soldiers fighting in Korea subsist on very little, however, and Clark couldn't expect the mass capitulation Eisenhower got when the U. S. Ninth and first armies closed the Ruhr pocket on the Germans in 1945 and trapped a million men.

The Communists probably would try to fight out of the trap and more Red soldiers would pour out of the Manchurian hills.

But if the stalemate is ever broken that's possibly the way it will have to be done.

Two Escape Injury

Rome, Dec. 16 (AP)—Farouk and Narriman, ex-sovereigns of Egypt, escaped injury last night when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another. The accident occurred in a Rome street. The two cars were slightly damaged, but none of the passengers was injured.

Ohio produces 25,000,000 pounds of tobacco annually and ranks 10th among states of the Union in that respect.

Paris and there was no official word to support this theory.

The State Department announced the review board's action last night and said it had suspended Vincent yesterday and ordered him home from Tangier. He has been minister and diplomatic agent there.

Davies Is Cleared

Simultaneously the State Department announced that the loyalty review board had cleared John Paton Davies, Jr., another veteran diplomat and like Vincent a controversial figure for several years, of any reasonable doubt as to his loyalty. Davies is presently assigned as deputy director for political affairs with the U.S. High Commission in Germany.

The department, in its announcement of the Loyalty Review Board devision on Vincent, made public a letter to Acheson from the board chairman, Hiram Bingham. Bingham wrote that the Board was not called upon to find that Vincent was disloyal, and did not do so.

But, he added, "his conduct in office * * * forces us reluctantly to conclude that there is reasonable doubt as to his loyalty * * *"

'Studied Praise' Cited

Bingham's letter cited what it termed Vincent's "studied praise" of the Chinese Communists in the early 1940's and his "equally studied criticism of the Chiang Kai-shek government." The U. S. was then supporting Chiang, Bingham added. And, Bingham said, Vincent had "close association with numerous persons who, he had reason to believe, were either Communists or Communist sympathizers."

The department announced that the board's recommendation that Vincent be fired had been called to the attention of the President, who would discuss it with Acheson after the secretary returns from a North Atlantic Alliance Conference in Paris at the end of the week.

Investigated by Agencies

Vincent, 53 and a veteran of more than 30 years' government service, has been investigated by various government agencies over several years. Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wisc.) told the Senate 18 months ago that accusations against Vincent contained "direct testimony that Mr. Vincent was a member of the Communist party."

Vincent has denied Communist affiliations.

Vincent became director of the Office of Far Eastern Affairs in September, 1945 and continued in that job until July, 1947. He was thus a key figure in Far Eastern policy making during part of the war and in the years immediately afterward.

Davies, like Vincent, has undergone various investigations. Most recently it was charged that in 1949 he recommended that the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) employ six persons described as Communists. Davies himself testified before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that he had recommended using the six persons but not employing them.

Confidential Testimony

Bingham wrote Acheson that the Loyalty Board had considered this incident, and had heard "highly confidential testimony" from Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, head of CIA, and Ambassador George F. Kennan, who has been barred by the Russians from serving at the Embassy in Moscow.

The Review Board approved earlier findings of a State Department Loyalty Board clearing Davies. Bingham wrote Acheson that the board was not authorized "to approve or disapprove of the wisdom of judgment of Mr. Davies as a foreign service officer and we do not purport to do so."

Protects Friend, Dies From Knife

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A 20-year-old waitress was stabbed to death today when she tried to protect a girl friend from a knife-wielding man.

This was the strange sequence of events police narrated:

Manuel Travisana, 24, a welder of (23 Croton Terrace) Yonkers, went to the apartment of a girl friend, Marya Rayner, 23, at 120 West 73rd street, and asked her for money for medical treatment. She gave him $26, but an argument developed.

Travisana suddenly picked up a knife and lunged at her, police said, but her friend, Laura Rios, stepped in front of her and took the knife in the chest.

She fell to the floor. Travisana and Miss Rayner left her there and went out to a restaurant. After a while Miss Rayner began to worry about her friend and went back to the apartment. Miss Rios was dead.

Police arrested Travisana in the restaurant.

Four thousand dollars of it was in cash and $115,000 in checks. They identified the prisoners as Anthony Perullo, 36, and Paul Urano, 26, both of Brooklyn. Herbert Killinder, chaplain; the Rev. Stanley Dean, assistant chaplain; James E. Norton, senior deacon; David Kunst, junior deacon; William H. Williams, senior master of ceremony; William A. Annual reports were read at the session.

Offensive Seen

Reds right to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria. Then the Chinese Communists intervened. The war surged back and forth across the 38th Parallel, then settled into its present stalemate.

The Reds have massed their forces along the front again and are wide open for an amphibious attack anywhere along the two coasts. The fact that there are two coasts makes it doubly hard for them to guess where the man who led the attack on Anzio might smack them.

Clark took Anzio with power and it is doubtful if he'd try a landing in Korea unless he had the ships to keep pouring men on beach once the attack started.

Would Hammer Line

Once a beachhead were secured, the next move would be to hammer a line right across the peninsula and slam the back door on the Communists massed along the front. Cutting their supply lines would result in a complete chaos and might bring the desired military decision.

Commlnist soldiers fighting in Korea subsist on very little, however, and Clark couldn't expect the mass capitulation Eisenhower got when the U. S. Ninth and first armies closed the Ruhr pocket on the Germans in 1945 and trapped a million men.

The Communists probably would try to fight out of the trap and more Red soldiers would pour out of the Manchurian hills.

But if the stalemate is ever broken that's possibly the way it will have to be done.

Two Escape Injury

Rome, Dec. 16 (AP)—Farouk and Narriman, ex-sovereigns of Egypt, escaped injury last night when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another. The accident occurred in a Rome street. The two cars were slightly damaged, but none of the passengers was injured.

Paris and there was no official word to support this theory.

The State Department announced the review board's action last night and said it had suspended Vincent yesterday and ordered him home from Tangier. He has been minister and diplomatic agent there.

Davies Is Cleared

Simultaneously the State Department announced that the loyalty review board had cleared John Paton Davies, Jr., another veteran diplomat and like Vincent a controversial figure for several years, of any reasonable doubt as to his loyalty. Davies is presently assigned as deputy director for political affairs with the U.S. High Commission in Germany.

The department, in its announcement of the Loyalty Review Board devision on Vincent, made public a letter to Acheson from the board chairman, Hiram Bingham. Bingham wrote that the Board was not called upon to find that Vincent was disloyal, and did not do so.

But, he added, "his conduct in office * * * forces us reluctantly to conclude that there is reasonable doubt as to his loyalty * * *"

'Studied Praise' Cited

Bingham's letter cited what it termed Vincent's "studied praise" of the Chinese Communists in the early 1940's and his "equally studied criticism of the Chiang Kai-shek government." The U. S. was then supporting Chiang, Bingham added. And, Bingham said, Vincent had "close association with numerous persons who, he had reason to believe, were either Communists or Communist sympathizers."

The department announced that the board's recommendation that Vincent be fired had been called to the attention of the President, who would discuss it with Acheson after the secretary returns from a North Atlantic Alliance Conference in Paris at the end of the week.

Investigated by Agencies

Vincent, 53 and a veteran of more than 30 years' government service, has been investigated by various government agencies over several years. Sen. YWCA Women's Club Has Program, Meeting

Mrs. Robert Pixley presided Thursday at a meeting of the Women's Club in the YWCA. A Williamsburg program was presented following the business session.

A report on communism was given by Mrs. William Ochs, Americanism chairman. It also was reported that more than 40 girls' dresses had been made by the members, and will be turned over to the Christmas Cheer committee. The pageant, originally scheduled for the meeting, has been postponed to a later date.

To open the program, Mrs. Pixley read the Story of Silent Night, and concluded with the singing of one verse of the carol.

Mrs. Henry Millonig, introduced by Mrs. A. Noble Graham, program chairman, showed a motion picture film descriptive of Williamsburg, Va. Mrs. Herbert Darrow gave an interesting and informative talk on the subject of Williamsburg and its historic significance. She told the complete story of the restoration. In conclusion, she remarked that the "visitor leaves Williamsburg with his memory refreshed, and with a clearer idea of the ways of the 18th century."

Following the program, tea was served by a committee consisting of Miss Florence Cordts, chairman; Mrs. Norman Swibold, Mrs. William Ochs, Mrs. John Pope, Mrs. Warren Smith and Mrs. Clarence Dumm. Mrs. DeWeese DeWitt presided at the tea table.

SPEEDING A PARTING GUEST

A reader writes me: "Please, Mrs. Post, won't you write something in your column about guests who prolong their goodbyes in the front hall until their hostess is ready to drop? I have been confronted with this very annoying situation so often lately that I simply had to write you about it. If we suggest they come back into the living room and stay awhile longer, their answer is, 'Oh no, we must go'—but they don't. When a guest is ready to leave, doesn't good manners require her to say goodbye and then go?

It certainly does, and the only thing I can think of to remedy this, is when you go out into the hall, to open the front door and say something such as "It has been so nice to see you," which certainly should prompt them to go out the door and say goodnight.

Names Must Be Identical

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance and I have recently had an argument on the correct use of Jr. He said that if the first name is the same as that of the father, the child is Jr. I, on the other hand, have always thought that the full name had to be the same before he was Jr. Does the difference in the middle name have any bearing on the situation?

Answer: Yes it does. Junior means an exact replica of senior, and the suffix is the only way by which one can be distinguished from the other.

Engagement Ring is Especially Privileged

Dear Mrs. Post: Is an elaborate and expensive engagement ring appropriately worn at any time, and with every type of costume? We are having considerable discussion in our group about it, and we are agreed that there is only one person to settle it amicably—you!

Answer: It is just as proper to wear an engagement ring at all times as it is to wear a wedding ring, no matter how conspicuous or valuable the former may be. In other words, a conspicuously valuable ring worn on the right hand would be very much criticized on certain occasions, but when worn on the left hand it is taken to be her engagement ring and properly worn at all times.

* * *

Would you like questions answered about engagements? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but you will find her leaflet E-1, "Engagements," very helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Holy Name Society Will Have CD Film

The regular monthly meeting of the Immaculate Conception Church, Holy Name Society will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the school hall. A Civilian Defense Training film, The Atom Strikes, will be shown following the meeting.

Clearance for the showing of the motion picture film was made through Sherwood Davis, local civilian defense director. It depicts the historical record of the atomic bomb tests in New Mexico.

Edward Tomczyk, president of the society, urges not only the members but all men of the Immaculate Conception parish to attend the meeting and see the education film. Another film, Fishing in New York State, will also be shown.

Refreshments will be served. The Rev. Joseph Sieczek, pastor, has expressed the hope for a "100 per cent membership attendance and a large turn-out of the men in the parish."

Old Dutch Church Presents Nativity

The Living Nativity will again be presented this year in the Old Dutch churchyard beginning Friday evening, from seven to nine o'clock. This marks the third consecutive year that the living picture of the manger scene has been depicted.

A new stable has been made and there have been additional characters added to the portrayal. The scene will be made as near as possible to a typical Palestinian inn courtyard. There will be the traditional donkey, a herd of sheep, and a flock of geese.

While the scene is taking place there will be Christmas carols on the chimes from the bell tower. Fires will burn in front of the manger scene, another typical element of the inn scene.

Situated in the heart of the uptown shopping district, the scene in the Old Dutch churchyard is presented to remind passers-by of the true meaning of Christmas.

Silk in 550 A.D.

Silk was introduced into the Western world about 550 A.D. by the Emperor Justinian who induced two monks to smuggle eggs of the silk worm out of China.

A single silk worm produces a thread about 800 to 1,000 yards long.

A tranquil elègance in styling has been achieved by Mr. Martin. Emphasis is placed on the graceful waves which halo the face. Top treatment is achieved with a crest wave rising gently above the forehead. Notice the soft wave behind the ears and the wide, wide waves at the side—with moderate priced Permanents styled in our salon.

We will be open Monday, Dec. 22 and 29 before the holiday

Gesela Forst Wins DemocracyContest

Miss Gesela Forst, 17-year-old German born Kingston High School Senior, was awarded first place in the final elimination of the "Voice of Democracy" contest held at the high school last week. Miss Forst, who has been in the United States three years, was the unanimous choice of the judges.

Miss Forst has been named Ulster county's official representative and a transcription of her speech will be entered in the state final at Syracuse next month. She scored 270 points out of a possible 300.

Miss Kathleen O'Reilly, representing St. Ursula Academy of Kingston, was awarded second place.

The judges of the contest, which was jointly sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and the local radio station, were the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the First Dutch Reformed Church, Frederic Snyder, local lecturer and news analyist, and Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley.

The judges expressed high praise for the poise and delivery of all the contestants.

Throughout the past month intra-school eliminations have been held in the high schools of Ulster county and the three finalists were Miss Forst, representing Kingston High School; Miss O'Reilly, representing St. Ursula Academy and Miss Lu Smalley, representing Highland High School.

Charles Jones, president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, made the presentation and extended the best wishes of the local organization to Miss Forst in the state finals.

William Beehler of the local junior chamber, officiated with the judges and was in charge of the scoring.

The program was under the direction of Alfred E. Smith, who was chairman of the "Voice of Democracy". He has announced that over a million and a quarter high school students throughout the country are competing for the four national prizes this year.

The entire program was rebroadcast over the local radio station on Sunday evening.

'Voice of Democracy' Winner

Alfred E. Smith, Ulster county chairman of the "Voice of Democracy," which was jointly sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Station WKNY, is shown presenting Miss Gesela Forst with the trophy, which will remain at Kingston High School until next year when it will be presented to the new Ulster county winner. The school winning the trophy three times will retain permanent possession. Robert L. MacKinnon, treasurer of the junior chamber, is holding the award certificate which also was presented to Miss Forst, the contest winner.

SURE, IT'S A Squeeze

But YOU CAN STILL SAVE

Mrs. Stanley J. Cichy, Ballston Lake, N. Y., says: "Both my husband and I started saving as children and we've found that a Savings Bank Account is always ready when you need it. We save for the things we want—never borrow to buy. Savings bought our home and will put our two sons through college. Every pay-day we save as much as we can out of my husband's earnings as a foreman in General Electric's Schenectady plant."

Here's Proof: New York State people are setting new records in saving... they have an all-time high of over thirteen billion dollars on deposit in their Savings Bank Accounts. Two out of every three people save at a Savings Bank because they want their money always safe, always ready!

Harold C. Newell was elected president, Lloyd Spearman, vice-president; Alice Chatfield, secretary; Albert Abendroth, treasurer, and Nicholas Brown, Thomas F. Burke and Charles H. Smith, trustees.

The following members of the community joined the Center: Louis Larsen, Mrs. Alice Chatfield, Albert Abendroth, Mrs. Mildred Newell, Harold C. Newell, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Nicholas Brown, Miss Nellie Johnson, Mrs. Nellie Dauenhauer, Mrs. Jennie Markle, David Markle, Charles H. Smith, Thomas F. Burke, Charles L. Miller, Miss Catherine Carney, Wilhelm Hansen, Mrs. Hazel Hansen, Mrs. Julie Spearman, Lloyd Spearman, Mrs. May Martin and Mrs. Caroline Surbeck. Requirements for membership are residency in the old Atwood School District and recommendation by a member.

There will be a Christmas party for adults and children at 7 p. m. Monday, Dec. 29, sponsored by the Center. All adults are requested to bring a 25-cent wrapped article.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and a cake, celebrating the birthday of Miss Nellie Johnson, was cut.

Lucky Seven

Gesela Forst Wins DemocracyContest

Miss Gesela Forst, 17-year-old German born Kingston High School Senior, was awarded first place in the final elimination of the "Voice of Democracy" contest held at the high school last week. Miss Forst, who has been in the United States three years, was the unanimous choice of the judges.

Miss Forst has been named Ulster county's official representative and a transcription of her speech will be entered in the state final at Syracuse next month. She scored 270 points out of a possible 300.

Miss Kathleen O'Reilly, representing St. Ursula Academy of Kingston, was awarded second place.

The judges of the contest, which was jointly sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and the local radio station, were the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the First Dutch Reformed Church, Frederic Snyder, local lecturer and news analyist, and Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley.

The judges expressed high praise for the poise and delivery of all the contestants.

Throughout the past month intra-school eliminations have been held in the high schools of Ulster county and the three finalists were Miss Forst, representing Kingston High School; Miss O'Reilly, representing St. Ursula Academy and Miss Lu Smalley, representing Highland High School.

Charles Jones, president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, made the presentation and extended the best wishes of the local organization to Miss Forst in the state finals.

William Beehler of the local junior chamber, officiated with the judges and was in charge of the scoring.

The program was under the direction of Alfred E. Smith, who was chairman of the "Voice of Democracy". He has announced that over a million and a quarter high school students throughout the country are competing for the four national prizes this year.

The entire program was rebroadcast over the local radio station on Sunday evening.

'Voice of Democracy' Winner

Alfred E. Smith, Ulster county chairman of the "Voice of Democracy," which was jointly sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Station WKNY, is shown presenting Miss Gesela Forst with the trophy, which will remain at Kingston High School until next year when it will be presented to the new Ulster county winner. The school winning the trophy three times will retain permanent possession. Robert L. MacKinnon, treasurer of the junior chamber, is holding the award certificate which also was presented to Miss Forst, the contest winner.

Kuniyoshi Exhibition Opens at N.Y. Gallery

Woodstock, Dec. 15—"Work by two American representatives of the 1952 Venice Biennale, Stuart Davis and Yasuo Kuniyoshi," according to Howard Devree, art critic of the New York Times, Sunday, "has finally been returned to this country and is being shown at the Downtown Gallery. The exhibition is also something in the nature of a miniature retrospective since it includes selections of paintings by Davis from 1916 to 1951 and of Kuniyoshi's work from 1923 to last year.

"The line of Kuniyoshi's development is perhaps unusually consistent, although both men show a steady growth in their advance to the front rank of American artists. Kuniyoshi's earliest canvases combine something of the knowing 'primitive' with a touch of the Oriental. The early works continue with growing power through an exploitation of low keyed tones, of tans and red browns, through such more convincingly articulated paintings as the Weathervane and Other Objects on a Sofa to the Girl Thinking of 1935 (perhaps his best figure theme), and the beginning of his heightened color in the familiar Somebody Tore My Poster of 1943. There is a growing dept of emotional expression coordinate with the heightened color through the deeply moving Revelation of 1949 into the richer color effects of the last year or two in which he attains his fullness of expression."

Children to Visit Christmas Village

Woodstock, Dec. 13—Arrangements are being completed for the trip by bus to the Christmas Village at Torrington, Conn., for the children of the first three grades and the fourth if possible, of the Woodstock Elementary School, Dec. 18 and 19. According to Walter Van Wagenen, school principal, the seventh and eighth grades have given $25 from their ice cream fund to help pay the cost of the bus for the two days.

A teacher and two mothers will go with the bus each day. The first and second grades will leave the school at 9 a. m. and are expected to return at 5 p. m. The third and possibly the fourth will do the same the next day. If the weather is at all dangerous for traveling, the trip will be canceled. A letter has been sent to the parents of the children of these grades requesting written permission for the trip.

An article appeared in the Ford Times Magazines, December, 1952, which described the Christmas Village at Torrington. The article stated that "several years ago Carl Bosenski, special events director of Torrington's Recreation Department, invited Santa to spend two weeks in the village prior to Christmas." Located in the Alvord Playground is the Christmas scene which has been set up for Santa, who has been so busy that he now brings along his elves. Before Santa's two-week visit the entire village participates in a "toy shower day," to aid him in his distribution of gifts.

On Friday, Dec. 19, Sam Davis of the Woodstock Motion Pictures, has invited the children of the school to attend a movie to be presented at 1:15. The children will be dismissed from the town hall and parents are requested to pick them up there.

All of the school windows will be decorated by the children for Christmas, under the direction of Mrs. Edna Quick. The P-TA will furnish the floodlights.

The seventh and eighth grade basketball team will play at the Onteora Central School on Dec. 17.

During the short business meeting Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, teacher, announced that Monday, Dec. 22, the children would visit a local store to purchase gifts for their families. Also one day during the coming week they will visit the Woodstock Bakery to watch Christmas cookies being made.

Following the business meeting a film titled The Social Development of the Child was shown by Miss Mary Mossman of the TB and Health Association of Ulster County. Informative and entertaining the picture showed the actions of a child at various age levels and stressed that a happy family life is based upon mutual respect for one another's wishes. At the conclusion of the picture Mrs. Gilkey acted as moderator during the discussion which followed with questions asked by the parents.

Paintings by Cecile Forman Are Exhibited

Woodstock, Dec. 15—The following review of Cecile Forman's exhibition of new paintings, now on view at the John Heller Gallery, New York, appeared in the New York Herald Tribune Saturday: "Cecile Forman's new paintings are just this side of pure abstraction. She starts with landscapes, still-lifes and interiors, adjusts their shapes and colors until she has a vivid patchwork-quilt kind of pattern. The result is in most cases an attractive, arresting formal composition, bold in form and resonant in color, that holds somewhat tenuously to natural appearance, and very vividly to original mood. Most interesting in the show are Landscape, Nature Study and Lawmakers."

Woodstock, Dec. 16—The annual meeting of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association will be held Tuesday, February 17. It will mark the organization's 60th year in business.

Town Board Discusses Village Water Rates

Woodstock, Dec. 16—At a town board meeting held last Saturday night at the town hall, it was decided to pay off $1,998.35 to the Peckham Road Construction Company against a debt of $10,000. Between $4,000 and $5,000 has already been paid on the debt to date. The possibility of lowering the water rates was discussed and it was stated that if the rates were not reduced the amount would help to pay for any future lines and extension within the water district.

Rentals for 1953 on the auditorium in the town hall to Sam Davis for use as a movie house and the Odd Fellows Hall in Bearsville for election purposes for the period of two years at $100 a year and a contract for Thomas Provenzano for keeping the windows and the floors polished for the year 1953 were signed.

It was recommended by Town Road Supervisor Benjamin DeGraff that the 1932 Walters town truck be turned in on a new Walters with a snow plow and wing. This was approved by the board.

The next town board meeting will be held December 31 at the Town Hall to wind up the year's financial reports.

Woodstock, Dec. 16—The annual meeting of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association will be held Tuesday, February 17. It will mark the organization's 60th year in business.

Town Board Discusses Village Water Rates

Woodstock, Dec. 16—At a town board meeting held last Saturday night at the town hall, it was decided to pay off $1,998.35 to the Peckham Road Construction Company against a debt of $10,000. Between $4,000 and $5,000 has already been paid on the debt to date. The possibility of lowering the water rates was discussed and it was stated that if the rates were not reduced the amount would help to pay for any future lines and extension within the water district.

Rentals for 1953 on the auditorium in the town hall to Sam Davis for use as a movie house and the Odd Fellows Hall in Bearsville for election purposes for the period of two years at $100 a year and a contract for Thomas Provenzano for keeping the windows and the floors polished for the year 1953 were signed.

It was recommended by Town Road Supervisor Benjamin DeGraff that the 1932 Walters town truck be turned in on a new Walters with a snow plow and wing. This was approved by the board.

The next town board meeting will be held December 31 at the Town Hall to wind up the year's financial reports.

The DUSO League swings into its second night of full action tonight with a complete slate of five games.

Kingston High, surprise and thrilling overtime victors over a highly favored Fallsburg quintet in Friday's seasonal opener here, travels to Ellenville for an 8 p. m. engagement.

According to new DUSO League rules governing Tuesday contests, all varsity games must get under way no later than 8 p. m.

Some of the schools, Ellenville included, have scheduled Tuesday preliminaries for 6:30 p. m. and have the option of reducing the Jayvee contests to six-minute periods.

Emerging from the confusion of the spectacular overtime triumph over the powerful Comets was the clear pattern that the 1952 edition of the Maroon will be outmanned by almost every opponent, but has speed to burn and more backcourt shooting power than any local team in several years.

Bill Haber's brilliant outside shooting against Fallsburg raised Maroon hopes for a good season. Ellenville is formidable at home and goes into tonight's game with a loss to Monticello and a 46-36 victory over Liberty to its credit.

The big Ellie threats are both guards—Gerry Kaplan and Gary Etter. The former dropped 13 points and Etter hit 11.

Newburgh Academy which had to fight for its life against Middletown, after blowing a 20-point lead, is at home against a strong Beacon quintet that should make it close but doesn't figure to win.

Monticello (1-1) travels to Port Jervis, while Poughkeepsie which displayed surprising power against Monticello in a 2-point loss engages Fallsburg at the "chicken coop" gym at Poughkeepsie.

Boston, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ex-heavyweight boxing king Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati—campaigning for another shot at the championship—looked impressive last night while banging out a seven round technical knockout verdict over Big Frankie Buford of Oakland, Calif., in Boston Garden.

Charles landed punches freely on the defensive-minded Californian but connected for only two smashing blows. The first was a savage right to the heart which dropped Buford for a count that reached four as the bell ended round six.

The second was a right hand smash to the head that felled Buford for the mandatory 8-count in the seventh. Referee Joe Zaputas stopped the one-sided belting bee at 2:13 as Buford's second—Nuno Cam—threw in a towel indicating the Californian had taken enough.

Buford held a big weight bulge in the scheduled 10-rounder, 202 to Charles' 187.

Rumors Are Flying Sedgman Turns Pro After Davis Cup

Melbourne, Dec. 16 (AP)—Rumors are flying again that Frank Sedgman, the world-top ranking amateur tennis player, will turn professional after the Davis Cup challenge round ends in Adelaide Dec. 31.

The 24-year-old Aussie flash has applied for a tax clearance to leave Australia Jan. 3 for the United States. Although such clearance is necessary for every person leaving the country, Sedgman pointed out "it doesn't necessarily mean I am turning pro."

It often has been reported Sedgman and Ken McGregor, Australia's No. 2 player, would join Jack Kramer and Pancho Segura on a world pro tour. McGregor has refused to comment on the matter.

Sedgeman said he wouldn't make any decision until after the Davis Cup.

"I won't make any decision until after the challenge round," he said, "because I won't have a final and definite offer until then.

"Kramer promised me an offer which he said would be so handsome that I wouldn't be able to refuse it. He intends to phone an offer immediately after the Davis Cup is over and I hope I can make a prompt decision."

Meanwhile, Kramer has obtained New York's Madison Square Garden for the afternoons of Jan. 10 and 11th and has been booking other arenas around the country.

A British overseas airline flight is scheduled to take off from Sydney, Jan. 3 and there's reason to believe Sedgman and his wife, Jean, will be among the passengers.

La Salle Voted No. 1 College Five In AP's First Poll

By ORLO ROBERTSON

New York, Dec. 16 (AP) — La Salle's National Invitation Tournament champions, unbeaten in six early season games, rank as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team in the opinion of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

The Explorers from Philadelphia, a veteran outfit that surprised in the NIT last spring, received 26 first-place votes and piled up 692 points on the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and so on, in the Associated Press' first poll of the 1952-53 season.

Southwest Missouri was La Salle's sixth victim last night, the Philadelphians winning, 77-70.

Undefeated Kansas State, picked to succeed Kansas as the kingpin of the Big Seven Conference, was second with 16 first place ballots, and a total of 552 points. Kansas beat San Francisco 81-60 last night for victory No. 3.

Illinois, which chalked up its second victory of the young campaign last night with a 96-66 decision over Michigan, was close behind with 538 points. The Big Ten champs were named first on eight ballots.

The writers and radio men made their selections before last night's games.

Seton Hall, which rang up No. 6 in an unbeaten string with a 76-66 triumph over Louisville last night, was ranked fourth with four first-place tallies and a total of 464. The New Jersey college was trailed closely by the Oklahoma Aggies, perennial Missouri Valley power who were given 442 points. The Aggies however, tied Kansas State for second place in number of first place votes with 16.

North Carolina State, powerhouse of the Southern Conference; Notre Dame, Holy Cross, Washington and Louisiana State round out the first ten in that order.

Maxim Confident on Eve of Title Bout But Oddsmakers Pick Moore at 8 to 5

St. Louis, Dec. 16 (AP)—It's not often light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim will make a prediction on the outcome of any of his fights, but for his Wednesday night title defense against favored Archie Moore, Joey says "I'm going to win."

What brought that optimistic burst from the usual doleful Clevelander was a little incident with Moore a few days ago at a medical examination.

"We're being examined," said the 30-year-old champion as he wound up his training with some light gym work yesterday, "and some radio announcer says to Moore: 'How do you think you'll do with Maxim Wednesday night?' Well, Moore looks down a moment, and then says 'I'm gonna knock him out'."

"Imagine that," explained Joey. "The nerve of the guy! So the announcer comes to me and says 'whatta you think of that'?" I told him "look, if that happens, it won't be the first time." But I told him I've always been told to string along with the champion. That goes double for Moore'."

Actually the swarthy champion is in a better frame of mind for Moore, his most dangerous title opponent to date, than he was for Irish Bob Murphy and Sugar Ray Robinson. He's cheerful and confident, and especially happy about his big pay day for the 15-rounder.

The champ has been guaranteed about $100,000 for his third title defense.

The odds-makers have made Moore an 8 to 5 favorite to win.

"That's okay with me," said Maxim. "They've made me the underdog lots of times before and I came out all right. Maybe it's a good sign."

Moore, who is getting his first chance at the 175-pound title after being passed over for nearly a decade, wound up his training by going three fast rounds with lightweight Virgil Akins. Maxim merely limbered up.

Archie declared "I know I can beat Mixim. I always did believe I could beat him even in his best days. I think I'm gonna knock him out."

The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast except for St. Louis and a 100-mile area around the city.

Sickler's Cop Three Victories In Rec League

With Hermie Sickler and Chub McClosky furnishing the bulk of the scoring power, Sickler's Delivery wrapped up three important victories in recent games of the Senior Recreation League at the George Washington School gym.

Maxim Confident on Eve of Title Bout But Oddsmakers Pick Moore at 8 to 5

St. Louis, Dec. 16 (AP)—It's not often light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim will make a prediction on the outcome of any of his fights, but for his Wednesday night title defense against favored Archie Moore, Joey says "I'm going to win."

What brought that optimistic burst from the usual doleful Clevelander was a little incident with Moore a few days ago at a medical examination.

"We're being examined," said the 30-year-old champion as he wound up his training with some light gym work yesterday, "and some radio announcer says to Moore: 'How do you think you'll do with Maxim Wednesday night?' Well, Moore looks down a moment, and then says 'I'm gonna knock him out'."

"Imagine that," explained Joey. "The nerve of the guy! So the announcer comes to me and says 'whatta you think of that'?" I told him "look, if that happens, it won't be the first time." But I told him I've always been told to string along with the champion. That goes double for Moore'."

Actually the swarthy champion is in a better frame of mind for Moore, his most dangerous title opponent to date, than he was for Irish Bob Murphy and Sugar Ray Robinson. He's cheerful and confident, and especially happy about his big pay day for the 15-rounder.

The champ has been guaranteed about $100,000 for his third title defense.

The odds-makers have made Moore an 8 to 5 favorite to win.

"That's okay with me," said Maxim. "They've made me the underdog lots of times before and I came out all right. Maybe it's a good sign."

Moore, who is getting his first chance at the 175-pound title after being passed over for nearly a decade, wound up his training by going three fast rounds with lightweight Virgil Akins. Maxim merely limbered up.

Archie declared "I know I can beat Mixim. I always did believe I could beat him even in his best days. I think I'm gonna knock him out."

The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast except for St. Louis and a 100-mile area around the city.

"The wife says it's OK," Jack shouted, not waiting until his car came to a stop. "I mean she says a coondog's O.K. I'm going to get one and I want you to tell me what kind."

Telling a guy what kind of dog he should get is certainly sticking one's neck out, but I could at least give him an idea of the qualities I like in a good dog and he could take it from there.

"If it's breed choice you want me to name," I said, "I won't go out on a limb. Dogs differ too much within a breed to recommend a coondog by breed. You might find a good one among the blue ticks, Redbones, black and tans, treeing Walkers or any number of breed classes. A dog either has or hasn't the qualifications, regardless of breed.

"What I can best do for you is to tell you what characteristics I would like to have in a dog, and if you agree, you can try to get as many of those qualities in one animal as possible."

"All right," said Jack, "you know I've done just enough coon hunting with some of the boys to know that I'd like to do more of it."

"It's hard to say," I continued, "which attributes are more important, but I'll mention first things first. A dog must have a good nose. A dog should be straight on raccoon, as a dog that goes off after deer, fox, possum or skunk can waste a lot of time and cause a lot of trouble. A dog should have such desire to hunt as to inspire him to range wide enough to find track. He should bark upon treeing the coon and continue to do so until you arrive.

"Traits which I like in a coondog, but which may be considered less important by some, are voice on trail, willingness to honor another dog's strike and ability to distinguish between old and new tracks."

"Why do you like a dog to give tongue?" asked Jack. "Isn't a silent trailer supposed to get more coons?"

"Sure enough, Jack," I answered, "if it's meat you want you'll tree more coons in less time with a silent trailer, but there isn't nearly so much sport. A great deal of the fun is in listening to the chase. A coon warned by the dog's voice, can lay a more interesting and difficult trail and the contest is far more exciting. You can hear your dog, and from the pitch and frequency of his voice, know what he's doing, when he has been checked and when the check is worked out and the line is getting hot again.

"Now you know what to look for, Jack. If you can get a dog such as I've described you'll really have something. If your dog can half measure up, you'll still have a lot of fun."

Oklahoma Coach Vetoes Criticism of New Free Throw Rule; Benefits Clean Playing Teams; Might Stop Point Shaving

Norman, Okla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The controversial new free throw rule which has been under heavy fire in early season basketball games found an ardent advocate today in Bruce Drake, Oklahoma coach.

He urged critics to look at the advantages of the rule which allows two chances to make a foul shot and eliminates the out-of-bounds option during the final three minutes, forcing a played to take both shots.

Drake, president of the Board of the National Basketball Coaches Association, said immediate results have been to:

1. Lengthen games.
2. Make wholesale fouling more expensive—a major purpose of the rule.
3. Benefit a clean-playing team.
4. Make it more difficult for fixers to shave points.

Acknowledging the oft-repeated criticism that games are longer—in Oklahoma's case five to six minutes—Drake said that was not argument against the rule. Actually the spectators will enjoy the game more, he contended.

As for the charge it is more difficult for a trailing team to regain the lead in the final three minutes, he said the game had gotten out of hand and needed curbing badly.

"I don't know whether this new rule . . . is going to decrease the number of fouls but I believe it is a step in the right direction," he said adding:

Shaving Tougher

"Even though this had not been mentioned in the scandals that broke out in New York two years ago, I am sure it would be much more difficult under the present rules for a team to shave points. He didn't elaborate.

"I think we will find the average score of a team will go up from five to seven points per game, and believe that the spectators will enjoy this game a lot more under the present rules than they have in the past."

According to his calculations, a personal foul this year costs a team one point—assuming a player can make one out of two shots. Last year it was only six-tenths of a point, on the basis that most teams hit 60 per cent of their free throws.

"So we have increased the penalty for the personal foul approximately four-tenths of a point for 37 minutes, have eliminated the declining of the free-throw, and should do away to a greater degree with the stalling that is employed in the last part of the game."

Brooklyn—Billy Gilliam, 209¾, Orange, N. J., outpointed Bob Baker, 216, Pittsburgh (10).

Oklahoma Coach Vetoes Criticism of New Free Throw Rule; Benefits Clean Playing Teams; Might Stop Point Shaving

Norman, Okla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The controversial new free throw rule which has been under heavy fire in early season basketball games found an ardent advocate today in Bruce Drake, Oklahoma coach.

He urged critics to look at the advantages of the rule which allows two chances to make a foul shot and eliminates the out-of-bounds option during the final three minutes, forcing a played to take both shots.

Drake, president of the Board of the National Basketball Coaches Association, said immediate results have been to:

1. Lengthen games.
2. Make wholesale fouling more expensive—a major purpose of the rule.
3. Benefit a clean-playing team.
4. Make it more difficult for fixers to shave points.

Acknowledging the oft-repeated criticism that games are longer—in Oklahoma's case five to six minutes—Drake said that was not argument against the rule. Actually the spectators will enjoy the game more, he contended.

As for the charge it is more difficult for a trailing team to regain the lead in the final three minutes, he said the game had gotten out of hand and needed curbing badly.

"I don't know whether this new rule . . . is going to decrease the number of fouls but I believe it is a step in the right direction," he said adding:

Shaving Tougher

"Even though this had not been mentioned in the scandals that broke out in New York two years ago, I am sure it would be much more difficult under the present rules for a team to shave points. He didn't elaborate.

"I think we will find the average score of a team will go up from five to seven points per game, and believe that the spectators will enjoy this game a lot more under the present rules than they have in the past."

According to his calculations, a personal foul this year costs a team one point—assuming a player can make one out of two shots. Last year it was only six-tenths of a point, on the basis that most teams hit 60 per cent of their free throws.

"So we have increased the penalty for the personal foul approximately four-tenths of a point for 37 minutes, have eliminated the declining of the free-throw, and should do away to a greater degree with the stalling that is employed in the last part of the game."

Brooklyn—Billy Gilliam, 209¾, Orange, N. J., outpointed Bob Baker, 216, Pittsburgh (10).

Joe Misasi Blasts 277 in City Minor League; Pin Short of League Record

Joe Misasi, the sensational all-events performer of recent city tournaments, came within a pin of equalling the individual high single record of the City Minor League with a 277 blast last night at the Bowlodrome.

Misasi's big blow was one pin short of Lou Secreto's league high of 278. The huge score came almost without warning. Misasi had tossed mediocre efforts of 160 and 137 when he launched the third game with seven strikes in a row.

A 5-8-10 split broke up the string but Misasi converted for a spare and cleaned up two more spares. In the team division Kingston Knitting Mills gained a first place tie with Johnny's Drive-In by sweeping three from the strong Mannie's Barber Shop.

Galitzky Raps 587

Runnerup Ben Galitzky fired 215-587 and Misasi tripled 574. Bill Murray bombed 201-571; Ed Dasher 214-559; Ralph Dumenigo 549; Millie Berardi 200-545; Harry Van Nosdall 544; George Brown 538; Jack Watzka and Harry Secreto (205)-534; Frank Deuire 201-529; Ken Radel 528; Joe Dulin and Harold Baltz (213)-526; Jim DeCicco 205-524; Ralph Garafola 524.

Team results:

Kingston Knitting Mills 3, Mannie's Barbers 0; Donato Bros. 2, Joe Epstein's 1; Mauro's Grill 2, Stone Ridge Firemen 1; Cities Service 2, Veterans Barber Shop 1; Broadway Chop House 3, Hutton Brick 0; D-D's Drive-In 2, Johnny's Drive-In 1; Tommy's Tavern 3, Crystal Gardens 0.

Davis Tops Indies

Junior Davis fired 603 with solos of 214-196-193 to take honors in the Independent League. Harry Wilber crashed 204-581; Milt Cole, Jr., 231-567; Don Vogel 233-554; Ray Roux 552; Rudy Kubicek 545; Frank Bruno 536; Roland Post 527 and Knute Beichert 524.

Team results:

Stone Ridge 1, Callanan's 2; Martin's Market 2, Vogel's Dairy 1; Beichert's Studies 2, Jump's Market 1; Sickler's Delivery 3, Welch's Grocery 0.

Herbie Sleight was top man on the Junior Major totem pole with a 574 series (180-212-182), with Warren Wood socking 214-541 and Eddie Esposito hitting 218-535; E. Bartroff 202-523; Frank Mehm, Jr., 209-513; Nat Phillips 223-513; R. Phillips 512; Joe Roche 506 and Angelo Corrado 504.

Team results:

Donnaruma and Augustine 3, Al's 0; Haber's Grill 3, American Legion 0; Five-in-One 3, Esposito's 0; Shults Paint 2, Ertel's 1.

Lillian Fromer was out in front in the BYA League with 456 (120-165-171). L. Shaeffer posted 412; Pat Pearson 409; Betty Douglas 407 and Luella Port 406.

UNUSUAL TACTICS FOR SQUIRRELS!

SOMETIMES THE UNUSUAL PAYS OFF IN HUNTING AS IN ANYTHING ELSE. IN THIS CASE, INSTEAD OF BEING QUIET AND SITTING MOTIONLESS, THE IDEA IS TO MOVE FAST AND NOISILY THROUGH THE WOODS, DRAGGING LEAVES, ETC. WITH YOUR FEET BUT NOT USING YOUR VOICE! KEEP LOOKING UP INTO THE TREES AS YOU GO. STOP SUDDENLY AND LISTEN. YOUR UNUSUAL NOISE STARTLES THEM SO THAT WHEN IT IS ABRUPTLY STOPPED THEY MAY FLEE WITHOUT CAUTION. HURRY TO HEAD THEM OFF WITH A SHOTGUN BEFORE THEY DEN-UP IN A TREE.

Elizabeth Schoonmaker's 570 Series Leads Women's Major League Rolling

Elizabeth Schoonmaker was well on her way to a "600" blast at the end of two games of last night's Major League session at the Bowlodrome. She had a 406 total with 201 and 205. A slump of 164 killed her chances to crash the coveted circle but the three solos added up to 570 to lead the league by a handsome margin.

Runnerup Dot Rawding toppled 549 and Marge Jansen socked 534 for the other top spots.

Also in the "500" bracket were Beverly Port 202-525; Ada Markle 519, Tess Moss 510, Reta Frederick 509 and M. Krum 501.

Evelyn Gross fired 495, Charlotte Lapine and Eleanor Singer, 493.

Team results:

Joe Misasi Blasts 277 in City Minor League; Pin Short of League Record

Joe Misasi, the sensational all-events performer of recent city tournaments, came within a pin of equalling the individual high single record of the City Minor League with a 277 blast last night at the Bowlodrome.

Misasi's big blow was one pin short of Lou Secreto's league high of 278. The huge score came almost without warning. Misasi had tossed mediocre efforts of 160 and 137 when he launched the third game with seven strikes in a row.

A 5-8-10 split broke up the string but Misasi converted for a spare and cleaned up two more spares.

In the team division Kingston Knitting Mills gained a first place tie with Johnny's Drive-In by sweeping three from the strong Mannie's Barber Shop.

UNUSUAL TACTICS FOR SQUIRRELS!

SOMETIMES THE UNUSUAL PAYS OFF IN HUNTING AS IN ANYTHING ELSE. IN THIS CASE, INSTEAD OF BEING QUIET AND SITTING MOTIONLESS, THE IDEA IS TO MOVE FAST AND NOISILY THROUGH THE WOODS, DRAGGING LEAVES, ETC. WITH YOUR FEET BUT NOT USING YOUR VOICE! KEEP LOOKING UP INTO THE TREES AS YOU GO. STOP SUDDENLY AND LISTEN. YOUR UNUSUAL NOISE STARTLES THEM SO THAT WHEN IT IS ABRUPTLY STOPPED THEY MAY FLEE WITHOUT CAUTION. HURRY TO HEAD THEM OFF WITH A SHOTGUN BEFORE THEY DEN-UP IN A TREE.

Elizabeth Schoonmaker's 570 Series Leads Women's Major League Rolling

Elizabeth Schoonmaker was well on her way to a "600" blast at the end of two games of last night's Major League session at the Bowlodrome. She had a 406 total with 201 and 205. A slump of 164 killed her chances to crash the coveted circle but the three solos added up to 570 to lead the league by a handsome margin.

Runnerup Dot Rawding toppled 549 and Marge Jansen socked 534 for the other top spots.

Also in the "500" bracket were Beverly Port 202-525; Ada Markle 519, Tess Moss 510, Reta Frederick 509 and M. Krum 501.

Evelyn Gross fired 495, Charlotte Lapine and Eleanor Singer, 493.

Team results:

S.R.S. 2, Jones Dairy 1; Sportsmen's Park 2, Jake's Grill 1; Williams Lake 2, Bert Bishop's 1.

N. Levan Haver Proposes New Field House Be Dedicated to S/Sgt. Robert H. Dietz

Attorney N. Levan Haver today urged that the new high school field house be dedicated to the late Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz, Class of 1940 of Kingston High.

Staff Sergeant Dietz was the only Kingston or Ulster county resident ever to be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Signed Previous Petition

Admitting that he had previously signed a letter presented to him by a committee requesting the Board of Education to dedicate the gymnasium to former high school teachers, Haver said to Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor:

"I do not wish to appear lacking in gratitude to these teachers," Haver wrote, "but I now feel that it would be much more appropriate to dedicate the gymnasium to Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz . . .

(Richard O. Gruver, one of three who suggested the name Walton-Cordes Field House for the new building, today said, "Anything they might do to honor the name of Sergeant Dietz would be fine with myself. I am sure Dick Riseley and George Swart would agree.)

Prefers Stadium for Dietz

("However," Gruver said, "three or four years ago I suggested that I felt the municipal stadium should be renamed in honor of Sergeant Dietz. Nothing came of that proposal. I still feel, personally, that the stadium, rather than the field house, should be named for him. I think, also, a statue of a military figure should be erected in the park as a memorial to all Kingston's war dead, many of whom played on KHS teams, others who played on baseball and basketball teams in city leagues.

("I am glad the idea has started some discussion. I am sure members of the Board of Education feel the same way. Nothing could be worse for a body of civic-minded trustees than to meet public apathy. Whatever the outcome, let it be said there is local interest.")

The Riseley-Swart-Gruver idea appeared in the Letters to the Editor column in The Freeman, Wednesday, December 5.

Haver's Letter

Haver's letter follows:

15 December 1952

Dear Charlie:

As a result of our talks last week while planning the dinner to be given by the Elks Youth Committee to honor Ed Weaver, I am constrained to write you regarding the proposal to dedicate the new high school field house to former high school teachers.

I do not think that it is at all inappropriate that the new gymnasium be dedicated to one or more teachers who gave many years of loyal service at Kingston High School. I am only one of many thousands who have benefited by the untiring and devoted efforts of many of these teachers. I do not wish to appear lacking in gratitude to these teachers. However, I feel it would be much more appropriate to dedicate the gymnasium to Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz, who is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1940, and the only Kingston or Ulster county resident ever to be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

I have already signed a letter presented to me by the committee requesting the Board of Education to dedicate the gymnasium to a former high school teacher. After giving the matter more thorough consideration, I feel that it would be a much finer gesture to give a much deserved lasting public recognition to Staff Sergeant Dietz. I am, therefore, writing the President of the Board of Education, suggesting that the Board consider the advisability of dedicating the new gymnasium to Staff Sergeant Dietz, and it occurred to me that perhaps a letter to you might create some interest or bring forth some comment on the merits of this suggestion.

Cordially yours,
N. LEVAN HAVER

Saves B-29 Crew

Airman 1/c Ernest P. Gooris, an aerial gunner from Glassport, Pa., saved the lives of a B-29 crew by disarming a live bomb stuck in a bomb rack while its 60-second time fuse ticked away, the Air Force announced. The daring feat was accomplished in 40-below zero temperature as the Superfort with a crew of 13 started home to Okinawa from a bombing mission over North Korea. (AP Wirephoto).

The Library of Congress says that after composing his only successful ballad, the famous "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," American composer Thomas P. Westendorf centered his interests in teaching at and superintending various reform schools.

N. Levan Haver Proposes New Field House Be Dedicated to S/Sgt. Robert H. Dietz

Attorney N. Levan Haver today urged that the new high school field house be dedicated to the late Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz, Class of 1940 of Kingston High.

Staff Sergeant Dietz was the only Kingston or Ulster county resident ever to be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Signed Previous Petition

Admitting that he had previously signed a letter presented to him by a committee requesting the Board of Education to dedicate the gymnasium to former high school teachers, Haver said to Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor:

"I do not wish to appear lacking in gratitude to these teachers," Haver wrote, "but I now feel that it would be much more appropriate to dedicate the gymnasium to Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz . . .

(Richard O. Gruver, one of three who suggested the name Walton-Cordes Field House for the new building, today said, "Anything they might do to honor the name of Sergeant Dietz would be fine with myself. I am sure Dick Riseley and George Swart would agree.)

Prefers Stadium for Dietz

("However," Gruver said, "three or four years ago I suggested that I felt the municipal stadium should be renamed in honor of Sergeant Dietz. Nothing came of that proposal. I still feel, personally, that the stadium, rather than the field house, should be named for him. I think, also, a statue of a military figure should be erected in the park as a memorial to all Kingston's war dead, many of whom played on KHS teams, others who played on baseball and basketball teams in city leagues.

("I am glad the idea has started some discussion. I am sure members of the Board of Education feel the same way. Nothing could be worse for a body of civic-minded trustees than to meet public apathy. Whatever the outcome, let it be said there is local interest.")

The Riseley-Swart-Gruver idea appeared in the Letters to the Editor column in The Freeman, Wednesday, December 5.

Haver's Letter

Haver's letter follows:

15 December 1952

Dear Charlie:

As a result of our talks last week while planning the dinner to be given by the Elks Youth Committee to honor Ed Weaver, I am constrained to write you regarding the proposal to dedicate the new high school field house to former high school teachers.

I do not think that it is at all inappropriate that the new gymnasium be dedicated to one or more teachers who gave many years of loyal service at Kingston High School. I am only one of many thousands who have benefited by the untiring and devoted efforts of many of these teachers. I do not wish to appear lacking in gratitude to these teachers. However, I feel it would be much more appropriate to dedicate the gymnasium to Staff Sergeant Robert H. Dietz, who is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1940, and the only Kingston or Ulster county resident ever to be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

I have already signed a letter presented to me by the committee requesting the Board of Education to dedicate the gymnasium to a former high school teacher. After giving the matter more thorough consideration, I feel that it would be a much finer gesture to give a much deserved lasting public recognition to Staff Sergeant Dietz. I am, therefore, writing the President of the Board of Education, suggesting that the Board consider the advisability of dedicating the new gymnasium to Staff Sergeant Dietz, and it occurred to me that perhaps a letter to you might create some interest or bring forth some comment on the merits of this suggestion.

Cordially yours,
N. LEVAN HAVER

Saves B-29 Crew

Airman 1/c Ernest P. Gooris, an aerial gunner from Glassport, Pa., saved the lives of a B-29 crew by disarming a live bomb stuck in a bomb rack while its 60-second time fuse ticked away, the Air Force announced. The daring feat was accomplished in 40-below zero temperature as the Superfort with a crew of 13 started home to Okinawa from a bombing mission over North Korea. (AP Wirephoto).

West Hurley Unit

The West Hurley unit will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the new firehouse. The results of the advance Christmas greens class will be added to the Christmas party. Members will tell of Christmas customs in other countries. Each member is requested to bring an inexpensive gift for exchange; and a cup and saucer. All women in the community are invited to attend.

Lomontville Unit

Thirteen members of the Lomontville unit met in the community hall Thursday morning for the lesson on Christmas decorations. Mrs. Raymond Elliott was the leader, and was assisted by Mrs. Gordon Eckert, Mrs. Anthony Bruntraeger and Mrs. Karl Bowers. Decorations they had made were displayed.

Wreaths were made by those in attendance and all planned to make other decorations at home.

Mrs. Walter Vollmeke presided at the monthly business meeting held in the afternoon. She appointed a nominating committee. Officers will be elected at the January meeting.

Mrs. Oscar Kafka reported on the Family Life meeting she attended. Hostesses were Mrs. Eckert and Mrs. Henry Rygh.

Hurley Unit

Hurley Unit held its regular business meeting and Christmas party Thursday, Dec. 11, when a covered dish luncheon was served to 22 members and five guests. There was an exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Vernon Goettchius gave some helpful hints on Christmas decorating. Anyone wishing to take lessons in sewing screens should telephone Mrs. Alton Dietz, 216-R-1. The lessons in advanced decorative stitches will be held by Mrs. Ernest LeFevre next month. Mrs. Thomas Goodman of Lake Katrine, sponsor of the Hurley Unit, was present and gave an interesting talk. She offered her services whenever needed.

High Falls Unit

The High Falls unit of the Home Bureau will hold its Christmas party at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck. All members and their guests are urged to attend. Everyone is asked to bring a small wrapped gift for exchange.

The unit has welcomed seven new members this year who have participated in various projects such as the making of aluminum trays, furniture refinishing and decorative stitches.

Kerhonkson Unit

The Kerhonkson Home Bureau met for the fourth time this year at the home of Mrs. Lorin Davis, with her daughter, Mrs. Roy Conklin as co-hostess. This was the annual Christmas party, the group meeting at 6:30 p. m. for a covered dish supper. Twenty-four members were present, with Mrs. Frank Mason being admitted as a new member. Mrs. Millard Davis, sponsor of this unit, was a guest.

Mrs. Julian VanDenBerghe called the meeting to order, after guests were served. A cordial welcome was extended Mrs. Millard Davis.

Mrs. Lester A. Wynkoop, reported that, in behalf of the Home Bureau members, she had turned over to the Kerhonkson Youth Commission, $203.45 to be used in the promotion of the Kerhonkson Community Pool project.

Mrs. Clifford Hartelius spoke briefly about the meeting she attended relative to mounting and framing pictures. She told the group that arrangements had been made to send the kit of supplies for this project to the group. A decision was made that in January Mrs. Hartelius would demonstrate the lesson to interested members of this group and also to interested members from the Tamakwa Home Bureau.

Mrs. Henry R. Decker gave a brief report on the Quick Hearty Meals lesson that she recently attended in Kingston.

Mrs. VanDenBerghe briefly bid bon voyage to two members of the unit who will move to other areas. Mrs. A. Widlitz will leave to reside in New York and Mrs. J. Friedman will leave for Indiana.

After the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed with exchange of gifts.

Tillson Unit

The annual Christmas party of Tillson Home Bureau Unit will be held Wednesday, at 8:30 p. m. in the Church Hall. After an evening of entertainment, gifts will be exchanged and refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. MacKeown's body, punctured by 35 stab wounds was discovered yesterday by neighbors in her fashionable studio-home at nearby La Jolla. The nationally-noted miniature portrait painter had been at work

Boy, 16, Reports He Killed Artist

San Diego, Calif., Dec. 16 (AP)—A 16-year-old high school student told police today he fatally stabbed artist Ida C. MacKeown, 67, when she threatened to tell officers he was a marijuana user.

Jailed and booked on suspicion of murder was Donald S. Crosby.

Detective Sgts. Paul Walk and Tony Maguire said the slim youth gave an oral confession and led them to a trash can where they found a knife with a four-inch blade.

Mrs. MacKeown's body, punctured by 35 stab wounds was discovered yesterday by neighbors in her fashionable studio-home at nearby La Jolla. The nationally-no

C of C Will Count Ballots Friday For Director Post

The nominating ballots for the office of director of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will be counted by the special elections committee Friday night. Chairman Emil G. Boessneck suggested today that all members who have not returned the ballot should should do so at once.

Boessneck emphasized that every active voting member received a list of all members and all have an opportunity to name the seven members of their own choice, as nominees. The 14 persons receiving the highest number of votes will be placed on the election ballot.

At the last directors' meeting President Lawrence J. MacAvery named the retiring directors, who are not eligible for re-election, as the nominating committee for officers. They will meet after the new directors are elected and recommend the 1953 officers from among the board members. The officers will be elected at the regular director's meeting on January 20, Joseph Deegan was chairman of the nominating committee. The other members are C. A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, R. W. Garraghan, L. J. MacAvery and Henry Singer. The officers to be elected are president, three vice-presidents, and a treasurer.

May Make Bank Deposit Without Parking Auto

Philadelphia, Dec. 16 (AP)—There are drive-in banks where a customer pulls his auto into a parking area and then turns his money over to a cashier.

There's banking by mail where you simply put your deposits into an envelope and drop it into the nearest letter box.

Now comes a more modern idea. The First National Bank of Philadelphia, in announcing today a planned $1,700,000 expansion of its downtown office, is going to let its customers drive right inside the building and do business without getting out of their cars.

The bank will be more than doubled in size. It is located in the heart of what once was the banking center of America and is close to Independence Hall.

A two-lane street-level driveway under the upper floors of the bank building will enable customers to drive right inside. On the left of the drive—radiant-heated and as long as a football field, architect's plans shows—will be four teller's windows. At the rear of the drive—still inside the building—will be a parking area in case the customers want to go upstairs into the main offices for specialized services.

Settlement Made In Crash Case

A settlement was reached at noon today following selection of a jury in a series of cases growing out of a collision between the cars of Morton Pader of New York and a car owned by Henry Kuykendall and operated by Harry Eddy, which happened on August 24, 1951 near the entrance to the Hotel Nevele at Ellenville.

Mrs. Eddy and Mr. and Mrs. Pader were injured.

Appearing in the actions were eight attorneys, Abraham Streifer, Louis Berger, John M. Cashin and Arthur B. Ewig, Joseph Kooperman, John Bonomi, Robert Ortale and Levine.

No case was ready today and an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock Wednesday.

Announced as settled was No. 163, John Rossitz against Dorothy Vollmer, an action for work, labor, services and materials. Joseph Avis for plaintiff and Roger H. Loughran for defendant.

Soldiers Relate

Military Police Service Company and one platoon of South Korean soldiers into the compound. Another ROK platoon surrounded the stockade outside the barbed wire.

Miller again yelled "stop."

The Reds answered with a hail of stones, thrown down from the terrace at the guards about 20 feet below.

A narrow flight of stairs led up to the terrace from each side.

Miller told newsmen:

"It would have been suicide if I had ordered my troops to go up there and break up the body of prisoners."

The colonel said the noise was "tremendous—it is impossible to convey to you this state of frenzy."

He said the eyes of the prisoners were glazed they were so hypnotized by the singing.

Tear Gas Useless

Miller said the wind was blowing so hard "tear gas would have been useless. They would have kicked the gas grenades back at our troops."

The colonel ordered all men with shotguns to fire one volley into the ranks of the pows.

"It had no effect," the island commander declared. "The wounded kept right on singing—and the others lifted the wounded as they fell."

Miller quickly ordered one volley from the rifles and carbins.

The front rank of prisoners went down. The captives behind them again yanked up the slumping dead and wounded. The roaring songs went on.

At nearby "Baker" compound other rioting prisoners jammed into the courtyard.

Miller said "they were about ready to force the gate or fences." On the Colonel's orders, South Koreans opened fire with a light machinegun from a tower overlooking the compound.

The hail of bullets ripped into the prisoners and many fell.

The planned escape was broken.

A five-officer investigating board now is on Pongam preparing a complete report on the outbreak.

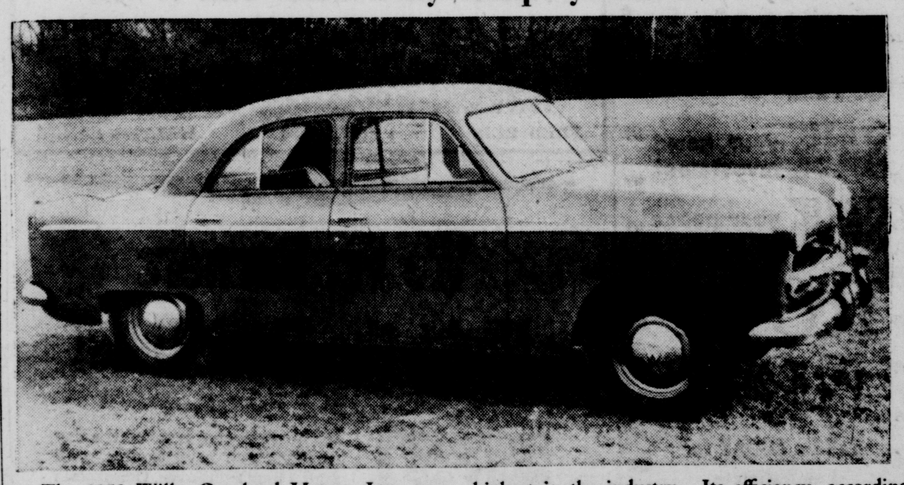
Miller disclosed that four prisoners, badly beaten by their fellow captives, were taken out of compound "Charlie" yesterday. This stockade did not join in the rioting Sunday.

The incident indicates dissension among some of the prisoners, all of whom have told Allied screening officers they want to be returned to North Korea in the event of an armistice.

Two Are Released

San Francisco, Dec. 16 (AP)—Police have released a father and son who were questioned three days in connection with the $7,128 robbery slaying of grocer Gard Young and three children. Wendell Hall, 49, was freed yesterday at Fresno after lie detector tests. His 27-year-old son, Travis, was freed here shortly afterward. The Halls were arrested Saturday after an anonymous informer told San Francisco police that two men had asked him to join them in a plot to rob a man named Young. Inspector Michael Doherty said both men had excellent alibis for Oct. 10—the date Young, his two small daughters and a neighbor boy were slain near Chester, Calif.

New Aero Willys Displayed Here



The 1953 Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., passenger car line went on display Monday at the Albany Avenue Garage, 593 Albany avenue, at Wrentham street.

Prices of the 1953 models will be lower than those for this year, the company has announced. Ward M. Canaday, president of Willys-Overland, announced to 3,000 members of the distributor-dealer organization that "these sensational price reductions are unprecedented in recent automotive history for popular priced cars. They have been made possible by higher government allocations which will permit us to more than double our passenger car production."

The price reductions and expansion in volume coincide with the firm's 50th year of operations. The 1953 passenger car line will be designated the "Golden Jubilee Aero Willys."

The Aero Eagle is powered by the 90 horsepower Hurricane 6, a new-type F-head engine with a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1, one of the highest in the industry. Its efficiency, according to Willys engineers, is indicated by the fact that it produces .560 horsepower per cubic inch of displacement. It does not require premium fuel.

An exceptionally large area of glass is provided in the Aero Eagle with its wrap-around rear window, one-piece safety windshield and absence of side posts. A feature of the car's interior is the liberal use of Naugahyde, "the revolutionary upholstery that has all of leather's desirable qualities, yet outlasts leather itself."

Extra large doors have been engineered into the four-door Aero Lark. Seats are 61 inches wide, front and rear. The company claims six full sized persons can ride "with an ease and comfort that is usually found only in big, luxury priced cars."

As an aid to parking, all four fenders can be seen by the driver. A sloped hood allows full view of the road as close as 10 feet in front of the car. Extraordinary gas economy is claimed.

Yule Tree Dangers Cited by Fire Chief

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy today called attention to the National Board of Fire Underwriters' emphasis on the danger of Christmas trees in the home.

The tree, center of festivities in most homes, can easily be the center of tragedy, the warning said.

Evergreen trees, of the type commonly used, are filled with pitch and resin. This is highly combustible, and once ignited, it burns so rapidly it is virtually impossible to check.

Observe Safety Rules

The board advises everyone to "keep Christmas merry" by observing every safety rule. It advises a small tree, because it is less dangerous, and suggests that it should not be set up too soon.

Trees should be placed in cooler areas of a home and away from fireplaces and radiators, and they should not block exists. If a tree is not rooted in a tub of earth, it should be placed in a base containing water.

Cotton or paper decorations should not be used and electric trains should not be placed under trees. Only electric lights, and never candles should be used in trimming trees. Wiring sets should be inspected to determine approval by Underwriters' Laboratories Inc.

Switches should be provided for turning lights on and off and the sets should not be plugged or unplugged beneath the tree.

The board warns that gift wrappings should be thrown away as soon as packages are opened. Lights should not be left on when a house is left vacant, needles should be watched to determine if they turn brown near lights, and when they start to fall, the tree should be removed.

Opposition Expressed

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Opposition to a higher subway fare and a proposed transit authority for the city, which he said would mean "a 25-cent fare to start," was expressed today by Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner Jr. in a letter to the board of estimate.

C of C Will Count Ballots Friday For Director Post

The nominating ballots for the office of director of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce will be counted by the special elections committee Friday night. Chairman Emil G. Boessneck suggested today that all members who have not returned the ballot should should do so at once.

Boessneck emphasized that every active voting member received a list of all members and all have an opportunity to name the seven members of their own choice, as nominees. The 14 persons receiving the highest number of votes will be placed on the election ballot.

At the last directors' meeting President Lawrence J. MacAvery named the retiring directors, who are not eligible for re-election, as the nominating committee for officers. They will meet after the new directors are elected and recommend the 1953 officers from among the board members. The officers will be elected at the regular director's meeting on January 20. Joseph Deegan was chairman of the nominating committee. The other members are C. A. Baltz, Jr., Emil G. Boessneck, Pratt Boice, R. W. Garraghan, L. J. MacAvery and Henry Singer. The officers to be elected are president, three vice-presidents, and a treasurer.

May Make Bank Deposit Without Parking Auto

Philadelphia, Dec. 16 (AP)—There are drive-in banks where a customer pulls his auto into a parking area and then turns his money over to a cashier.

There's banking by mail where you simply put your deposits into an envelope and drop it into the nearest letter box.

Now comes a more modern idea. The First National Bank of Philadelphia, in announcing today a planned $1,700,000 expansion of its downtown office, is going to let its customers drive right inside the building and do business without getting out of their cars.

The bank will be more than doubled in size. It is located in the heart of what once was the banking center of America and is close to Independence Hall.

A two-lane street-level driveway under the upper floors of the bank building will enable customers to drive right inside. On the left of the drive—radiant-heated and as long as a football field, architect's plans shows—will be four teller's windows. At the rear of the drive—still inside the building—will be a parking area in case the customers want to go upstairs into the main offices for specialized services.

Says Stores Have Goods

Berlin, Dec. 16 (AP)—The West Berlin newspaper Der Tag reported today that western goods confiscated from Christmas shopping East Germans have not appeared in the state-operated chain stores in the Russian sector. The newspaper said the goods, seized by Communist customs teams on the sector border from easterners returning from West Berlin shopping tours, are being sold to favored employes only.

Soldiers Relate

Military Police Service Company and one platoon of South Korean soldiers into the compound. Another ROK platoon surrounded the stockade outside the barbed wire.

Miller again yelled "stop."

The Reds answered with a hail of stones, thrown down from the terrace at the guards about 20 feet below.

A narrow flight of stairs led up to the terrace from each side.

Miller told newsmen:

"It would have been suicide if I had ordered my troops to go up there and break up the body of prisoners."

The colonel said the noise was "tremendous—it is impossible to convey to you this state of frenzy."

He said the eyes of the prisoners were glazed they were so hypnotized by the singing.

Tear Gas Useless

Miller said the wind was blowing so hard "tear gas would have been useless. They would have kicked the gas grenades back at our troops."

The colonel ordered all men with shotguns to fire one volley into the ranks of the pows.

"It had no effect," the island commander declared. "The wounded kept right on singing—and the others lifted the wounded as they fell."

Miller quickly ordered one volley from the rifles and carbins.

The front rank of prisoners went down. The captives behind them again yanked up the slumping dead and wounded. The roaring songs went on.

At nearby "Baker" compound other rioting prisoners jammed into the courtyard.

Miller said "they were about ready to force the gate or fences." On the Colonel's orders, South Koreans opened fire with a light machinegun from a tower overlooking the compound.

The hail of bullets ripped into the prisoners and many fell.

The planned escape was broken.

A five-officer investigating board now is on Pongam preparing a complete report on the outbreak.

Miller disclosed that four prisoners, badly beaten by their fellow captives, were taken out of compound "Charlie" yesterday. This stockade did not join in the rioting Sunday.

The incident indicates dissension among some of the prisoners, all of whom have told Allied screening officers they want to be returned to North Korea in the event of an armistice.

Two Are Released

San Francisco, Dec. 16 (AP)—Police have released a father and son who were questioned three days in connection with the $7,128 robbery slaying of grocer Gard Young and three children. Wendell Hall, 49, was freed yesterday at Fresno after lie detector tests. His 27-year-old son, Travis, was freed here shortly afterward. The Halls were arrested Saturday after an anonymous informer told San Francisco police that two men had asked him to join them in a plot to rob a man named Young. Inspector Michael Doherty said both men had excellent alibis for Oct. 10—the date Young, his two small daughters and a neighbor boy were slain near Chester, Calif.

New Aero Willys Displayed Here

The 1953 Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., passenger car line went on display Monday at the Albany Avenue Garage, 593 Albany avenue, at Wrentham street.

Prices of the 1953 models will be lower than those for this year, the company has announced. Ward M. Canaday, president of Willys-Overland, announced to 3,000 members of the distributor-dealer organization that "these sensational price reductions are unprecedented in recent automotive history for popular priced cars. They have been made possible by higher government allocations which will permit us to more than double our passenger car production."

The price reductions and expansion in volume coincide with the firm's 50th year of operations. The 1953 passenger car line will be designated the "Golden Jubilee Aero Willys."

The Aero Eagle is powered by the 90 horsepower Hurricane 6, a new-type F-head engine with a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1, one of the highest in the industry. Its efficiency, according to Willys engineers, is indicated by the fact that it produces .560 horsepower per cubic inch of displacement. It does not require premium fuel.

An exceptionally large area of glass is provided in the Aero Eagle with its wrap-around rear window, one-piece safety windshield and absence of side posts. A feature of the car's interior is the liberal use of Naugahyde, "the revolutionary upholstery that has all of leather's desirable qualities, yet outlasts leather itself."

Extra large doors have been engineered into the four-door Aero Lark. Seats are 61 inches wide, front and rear. The company claims six full sized persons can ride "with an ease and comfort that is usually found only in big, luxury priced cars."

As an aid to parking, all four fenders can be seen by the driver. A sloped hood allows full view of the road as close as 10 feet in front of the car. Extraordinary gas economy is claimed.

Yule Tree Dangers Cited by Fire Chief

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy today called attention to the National Board of Fire Underwriters' emphasis on the danger of Christmas trees in the home.

The tree, center of festivities in most homes, can easily be the center of tragedy, the warning said.

Evergreen trees, of the type commonly used, are filled with pitch and resin. This is highly combustible, and once ignited, it burns so rapidly it is virtually impossible to check.

Observe Safety Rules

The board advises everyone to "keep Christmas merry" by observing every safety rule. It advises a small tree, because it is less dangerous, and suggests that it should not be set up too soon.

Trees should be placed in cooler areas of a home and away from fireplaces and radiators, and they should not block exists. If a tree is not rooted in a tub of earth, it should be placed in a base containing water.

Cotton or paper decorations should not be used and electric trains should not be placed under trees. Only electric lights, and never candles should be used in trimming trees. Wiring sets should be inspected to determine approval by Underwriters' Laboratories Inc.

Switches should be provided for turning lights on and off and the sets should not be plugged or unplugged beneath the tree.

The board warns that gift wrappings should be thrown away as soon as packages are opened. Lights should not be left on when a house is left vacant, needles should be watched to determine if they turn brown near lights, and when they start to fall, the tree should be removed.

Opposition Expressed

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Opposition to a higher subway fare and a proposed transit authority for the city, which he said would mean "a 25-cent fare to start," was expressed today by Manhattan Borough President Robert F Wagner Jr. in a letter to the board of estimate.

Fire Officials Are Told Value of Own Two-Way Radios

Fire chiefs and board chairmen of Ulster county's fire districts at a meeting Monday night heard officials of three other counties praise the two-way radio communications system as a valuable aid in fire fighting and in meeting other emergencies.

The meeting was called by Arthur C. Chipp, county fire corrdinator, to find out the extent of interest among county fire service officials for the establishment of a radio communications system in this county. In attendance at the Central Fire Station in Kingston were approximately 100 men, including chiefs of the county fire districts, chairmen of their boards of fire commissioners, the fire chiefs and mayors of the city and the five incorporated villages.

Men of Experience Talk

Present from Oneida county, one of the first in the state to install two way fire radio equipment, were Assistant Chief Edward Rothenberg, chief dispatcher of the Utica Fire Department, and Ward Bohner, county coordinator and chief of the Waterville Fire Department.

They related their experiences with the system, stressing that at one time whole areas of the county were without other communications for a two-day period, and the fire radio system was used not only for fire service but also to reach doctors, ambulances and for directing the opening of roads.

A system was set up to get dry ice into powerless freezer units in private homes and was credited with the savings of "thousands of dollars" of food, the Oneida officials reported.

Red Hook Reports

A somewhat similar experience but of shorter duration was reported by Otto Friske, chief of the Red Hook Fire Department the fire coordinator for Dutchess county.

Another speaker was Chief Dewey Borden of the Liberty Fire Department, who is also Sullivan county fire coordinator.

Those present at the meeting adopted without dissent a resolution directing the chairman, Arthur Chipp, to present a "complete plan" for the proposed two-way radio system to the Board of Supervisors at its next meeting.

The proposal to equip fire fighting equipment in the county with two-way radio for communication with a central headquarters and vehicle-to-vehicle has been discussed in this county for several years. The Ulster County Firemen's Association at the last budget meeting of the Board of Supervisors presented a request for an appropriation, but the request was denied, according to Chipp, for lack of specific plans and cost figures.

Committee Enlarged

At Monday's meeting, Frank E. Mentz, chairman of the board of fire commissioners of the Wallkill Fire District, was designated an additional member of the committee to prepare plans for presentation to the Board of Supervisors. Other committee members, previously appointed, are: Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, Chief Winfred Snyder of Hurley, Chief Edward Maines of Port Ewen and County Coordinator Chipp.

Also present at Monday's meeting to discuss equipment and costs were Barry Kommel, representing the Motorola Corporation, Fort Lee, N. J., and Harry Boyle of the R.C.A. Corporation of New York city.

Two-way Radio Hookup Is Discussed

Approximately 100 persons, including fire chiefs, chairmen of boards of fire commissioners of all Ulster county fire districts and the mayors of Kingston and the five incorporated villages, attended a meeting last night at the Central Fire Station, Kingston, to discuss the question of a two-way radio hookup between central headquarters and all fire equipment. The meeting was called by Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, county fire coordinator. Standing, left to right, Chipp; Kenneth E. Wilson, supervisor of the Town of Woodstock; Charles Relyea, supervisor of the Town of Hurley and head of the radio committee for Ulster county; Edward Rothenberg, chief dispatcher of the Utica Fire Department, Oneida county; Dewey Borden, Sullivan county fire coordinator. Seated, left to right, Otto Friske, Dutchess county fire coordinator; Chief Joseph Murphy, chairman of the Ulster county fire advisory board; Ward Bohner, Oneida county fire coordinator, and Winfred Snyder, chief of the Hurley Fire Department and a member of the radio committee of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association. (Freeman photo)

Fire Officials Are Told Value of Own Two-Way Radios

Fire chiefs and board chairmen of Ulster county's fire districts at a meeting Monday night heard officials of three other counties praise the two-way radio communications system as a valuable aid in fire fighting and in meeting other emergencies.

The meeting was called by Arthur C. Chipp, county fire corrdinator, to find out the extent of interest among county fire service officials for the establishment of a radio communications system in this county. In attendance at the Central Fire Station in Kingston were approximately 100 men, including chiefs of the county fire districts, chairmen of their boards of fire commissioners, the fire chiefs and mayors of the city and the five incorporated villages.

Men of Experience Talk

Present from Oneida county, one of the first in the state to install two way fire radio equipment, were Assistant Chief Edward Rothenberg, chief dispatcher of the Utica Fire Department, and Ward Bohner, county coordinator and chief of the Waterville Fire Department.

They related their experiences with the system, stressing that at one time whole areas of the county were without other communications for a two-day period, and the fire radio system was used not only for fire service but also to reach doctors, ambulances and for directing the opening of roads.

A system was set up to get dry ice into powerless freezer units in private homes and was credited with the savings of "thousands of dollars" of food, the Oneida officials reported.

Red Hook Reports

A somewhat similar experience but of shorter duration was reported by Otto Friske, chief of the Red Hook Fire Department the fire coordinator for Dutchess county.

Another speaker was Chief Dewey Borden of the Liberty Fire Department, who is also Sullivan county fire coordinator.

Those present at the meeting adopted without dissent a resolution directing the chairman, Arthur Chipp, to present a "complete plan" for the proposed two-way radio system to the Board of Supervisors at its next meeting.

The proposal to equip fire fighting equipment in the county with two-way radio for communication with a central headquarters and vehicle-to-vehicle has been discussed in this county for several years. The Ulster County Firemen's Association at the last budget meeting of the Board of Supervisors presented a request for an appropriation, but the request was denied, according to Chipp, for lack of specific plans and cost figures.

Committee Enlarged

At Monday's meeting, Frank E. Mentz, chairman of the board of fire commissioners of the Wallkill Fire District, was designated an additional member of the committee to prepare plans for presentation to the Board of Supervisors. Other committee members, previously appointed, are: Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, Chief Winfred Snyder of Hurley, Chief Edward Maines of Port Ewen and County Coordinator Chipp.

Also present at Monday's meeting to discuss equipment and costs were Barry Kommel, representing the Motorola Corporation, Fort Lee, N. J., and Harry Boyle of the R.C.A. Corporation of New York city.

Two-way Radio Hookup Is Discussed

Approximately 100 persons, including fire chiefs, chairmen of boards of fire commissioners of all Ulster county fire districts and the mayors of Kingston and the five incorporated villages, attended a meeting last night at the Central Fire Station, Kingston, to discuss the question of a two-way radio hookup between central headquarters and all fire equipment. The meeting was called by Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, county fire coordinator. Standing, left to right, Chipp; Kenneth E. Wilson, supervisor of the Town of Woodstock; Charles Relyea, supervisor of the Town of Hurley and head of the radio committee for Ulster county; Edward Rothenberg, chief dispatcher of the Utica Fire Department, Oneida county; Dewey Borden, Sullivan county fire coordinator. Seated, left to right, Otto Friske, Dutchess county fire coordinator; Chief Joseph Murphy, chairman of the Ulster county fire advisory board; Ward Bohner, Oneida county fire coordinator, and Winfred Snyder, chief of the Hurley Fire Department and a member of the radio committee of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association. (Freeman photo)
